5 hurt in area accidents

Three Sikeston youths were among five persons injured in three area traffic accidents over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

Charles David Sparks, 16, of Sikeston received minor injuries at 11:30 p.m. Saturday when the brakes on his pickup truck failed at a T intersection one and a half miles south of Miner on Route AA, and the truck ran into a ditch.

Also receiving minor injuries were passengers David Paullus, 15, and Doyne Lee Elliott, 16. All three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

A Perryville man was seriously injured when he lost control of a pickup truck which ran off the road on a curve and struck a dirt embankment at 1:40 p.m. Sunday on Route N five miles west of Perryville.

The highway patrol said Roger Dale Tucker, 23, was taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

Clois L. McKay, 37, of Dardanelle, Ark., was seriously injured at 10:30 p.m. Sunday when his car ran through a T intersection and overturned on Route D near Cottonwood Point in Pemiscot County.

He was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Kissinger hosts Arab ministers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign ministers of Egypt and Saudi Arabia met today with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in an effort to get talks started on disengagement of Israeli and Syrian troops in the Golan Heights.

"Nice to see you, Henry," said Omar Sakkaf, the Saudi minister, as he and Ismail Fahmy of Egypt were ushered into Kissinger's office at the State Department shortly before noon.

Kissinger, reflecting the good mood that he has maintained publicly in his Middle East diplomacy, said to Fahmy "you look in great shape."

They planned to talk for about an hour and a half before having lunch with Vice President Gerald R. Ford, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and others.

The foreign ministers met individually with Kissinger Sunday on prospects of a disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces.

Kissinger also conferred Sunday with Sabah Kabani, the top Syrian diplomat here, and talked by telephone with Simchra Dinitz, Israel's ambassador to Washington.

Sakkaf and Fahmy were sent to Washington after a conference of the heads of state of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Algieria in Algiers on Feb. 14.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Egypt's Anwar Sadat, Syria's Hafez Assad, and Houari Boumedienne of Algeria reportedly have agreed that the Syrian-Israel stalemate cannot continue. Kissinger reportedly is being asked to start a mission similar to the one he carried out between Israel and Egypt, which led to the disengagement on the Suez Canal front.

Kissinger has said he is willing to commute between Jerusalem and Damascus, provided both sides show they are ready to make concessions.

The Israeli position is that at the minimum the Syrians must produce a list of Israeli prisoners of war before Israel would even talk about a disengagement. Kissinger met Sunday morning with Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz and discussed the general Mideast situation, a State Department spokesman said.

The Syrians want a commitment by Israel that all territory occupied in the 1967 and October wars will be evacuated before they provide the list of the prisoners. Also Sunday, Kissinger met with Syria's topranking envoy to Washington, Sabah Kabani.

Sikeston youth charged with first degree murder

Robert Lee Williams, 19, of 111 Thompson St. has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the Saturday night shooting death of Jessie James Perkins, also known as Jessie Cauldwell, 29, of 117 Petty St.

Williams was being held today in the Sikeston city jail under $5,000 bond. He is scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday morning in Magistrate Court.

Perkins was shot once in the chest shortly before 11 p.m. while on the front porch of the Charlie Williams home, where young Williams, a relative, lived. The shooting reportedly followed an argument over a woman, according to police.

Police said Williams walked into the police station at 11:02 p.m. and told officer Ed Speakman that he had just shot a man and wanted to turn himself over to police.

Williams thenreached into his pants pocket and pulled out a .22 - caliber revolver and laid it on the counter, police said.

When officers arrived at the Williams home, they found Perkins dead on the front porch, lying face down. Police said the bullet entered the chest and lodged near the heart

The shooting death was the second in the city this year.

George Holland, 43, of 1409 Henry St., was shot to death Jan. 27 in the kitchen of his home. His wife, Vivian Holland, faces a first degree murder charge in connection with his death. The Holland slaying was the first in the city in nearly three years.

Perkins had been placed on two- year probation in Magistrate Court last Tuesday, after pleading guilty to the burglary of the L. B. Spears home on Feb. 2. Perkins was unemployed. Williams is employed by Paul's Sanitation Service.

Perkins was born Sept. 27, 1944 in Greensboro, Ala., and was the son of Mrs. Jessie Keith and Joe Wilson Perkins of Chicago.

His body was removed today from Smith Funeral Home and taken to Branch Funeral Home in Chicago.

$2,100 taken at auto firm

PORTAGEVILLE-- Paine Auto Parts on Highway 61 North was burglarized sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning of an estimated $1,300 in merchandise and $800 from a safe, which was opened by working the combination on the lock, according to the New Madrid County sheriff's department.

Among merchandise items reported stolen were tires, hydraulic jacks, assorted tools, grinders and auto parts. The building was entered by breaking out a back window.

Last year in Scott County

$1.6 million up in Smoke

How much effect has the campaign against cigarette smoking, begun just 10 years ago by the Surgeon General, had on residents of Scott County?

Are they smoking more or less than they did in January, 1964, when he issued the warning that cigarette smoking was a hazard to health and to life?

The findings are that many people heeded the warning and quit permanently. Others cut down on their consumption but found it too difficult to give it up completely.

The downward shift has been offset, however, by the growing use of cigarettes by teen-agers, especially young girls.

The net result is that, despite all efforts on the part of the Public Health Service, the National Cancer Institute and others to get people to give up cigarettes, there are now some 52 million smokers in the United States, which is 2 million more than in 1964, when the campaign began.

The facts and figures come from national statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture and from area reports released by the tobacco industry and others.

In Scott County, a breakdown shows, approximately 4,412,000 packs of cigarettes were sold in the past year.

Related to the local population over 18, this was equivalent to 202 packs per capita.

Throughout the United States as a whole, by way of comparison, the average was 206 packs. It was 171 packs in the West North Central States.

With the feeling that most of the smokers who could be turned away from cigarettes have already been turned and that the smoking habit "will continue for the next several

PSC hearing on truckers surcharge starts Tuesday

JEFFERSON CITY — A hearing will be held Tuesday by the Missouri Public Service Commission to determine whether a surcharge of six per cent should be granted to truck operators in Missouri to conpensate for higher fuel costs.

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Public Service Commission hearing room on the 10th floor of the Jefferson Building.

Any persons who wish to give evidence in regard to the six per cent surcharge or other matters related to it should appear at the hearing, the commission said.

An important factor to be considered, the commission said, is the type of conditions that should be imposed, if the surcharge is approved, to ensure that those wo who actually buy fuel benefit from the full effect of the surcharge.

A similar six per cent surcharge for interstate transporation was approved last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It did not apply to intrastate carriers -- those that operate wholly within a state -- and the PSC said it has learned that some Missouri intrastate hauls are being neglected by carriers because no surcharge has yet been allowed on intrastate shipments in Missouri.

The Commission said there is an urgent need for immediate relief from higher fuel costs in order that the carriers may recover the increased cost as soon as possible.

2 cars are stolen

A 1964 bronze Cadillac was reported stolen about 8 p.m. Sunday from the Ramada Inn parking lot, police announced today. The car is owned by Nancy Alcorn Healey of Sikeston.

It was the second car theft reported to police during the weekend.

The first theft was reported late Friday afternoon from the used car lot of Goza- Harper Motor Co. 225 E. Malone Ave.

The car, a repossession, was stolen sometime in the last 30 days. It was described as a blue 1969 Pontiac Firebird.

Berry services Saturday

Funeral services for Edward H. Berry, 65, of 805 Sikes Ave., a former alderman, community chest president and senior partner in the firm of Berry, Patmore & Co., certified public accountants, were conducted at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church.

Burial was in Garden of Memories Cemetery with Welsh Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Tom Baker, W. L. Lair, E. E. Jolley, David Barton, Tom Allen, Charles Boyce, Leo Fisher, E. N. Fuchs, Kenneth Smitten and E. M. Radcliffe.

A resident for 32 years, Berry served the city as an alderman for one term (beginning in 1951) and was president of the community chest the year it was initiated.

Edward Berry

In 1937, he was admitted to practice law by the Tennessee Bar and was a member of the America Bar Association. In 1953, he was admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Tax Court.

He served as an honorary colonel on the staff of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and served on the Missouri State Board of Accountancy under three governors. He was past president of the Southeast Missouri Chapter of Certified Public Accountants Association.

He also was a Mason and Shriner and an active member of Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church, where he had been a ruling elder for several years.

Fire destroys home of Masterson family

The fire was discovered shortly before 11 p.m. by Scott County Deputy Sheriff Bud Jones who said flames were already breaking through the roof of the house when he spotted the fire.

The house burned out of control after both the Sikeston and Miner fire trucks ran out of water. No water lines are located near the home, which stood about one mile east of Interstate 55. The Miner fire department tried unsuccessfully to suction water from a drainage ditch located a short distance from the house.

The family was visiting relatives when the fire broke out. The three- bedroom frame house was said to be about two years old. The Mastersons had moved into the house about six months ago.

Most of the family possessions were lost, although a few items were salvaged.

The Sikeston fire department was called to a grass fire at 3:28 p.m. Sunday at 840 Tanner St., when children playing with matches set fire to grass. The fire was quickly extinguished with no damge, firemen said.

WHY DO
YOU VOTE?

Here and there around the country there are signs that the candidates in the next election are going to be running scared. Scared because revelations of corruption in state and Federal government are causing more than usual concern among the voters.

Avowed candidates are publicly announcing that they won't accept large contributions. Some say they won't take any cash.

It looks to us that if this backlash is strong enough we may have one of the most honest elections held in this or any other country for a long time.

It could well be that instead of handpicked candidates by political machines, a number of candidates may enter the field who have something to give this country of great value. It may be that we will make a real turn away from huge campaign funds that are used by the venal to buy and sell public offices.

We'd say right now that there is a chance that a real turn for the better could occur but we are realists enough not to think this will be a complete victory.

Politics is still not a science nor an art but a face- to - face confrontation of millions of people on election day. Unfortunately, many never pay any attention to that day. Most of these don't even vote. Many who do vote do so as a whim. Others haven't one real reason for casting their ballot except that it's the thing to do. Some never even heard of the candidates they vote for.

But we thank Our Heavenly Father who created this country that there are many citizens who do know who they are voting for and why they are voting.

It is our opinion that this election day there will be a lot more voters who know what they are doing when they go to the polls. We also think there will be a lot more voters who will vote their convictions for an honest government.

May we respectfully suggest that you begin to consider right now how you are going to vote.

PRAYERS IN SCHOOL ARE STILL OUT OF PLACE

The perennial subject of school prayer is up before Congress again.

The Senate's Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee has been holding hearings on an amendment proposed by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., which would specify that the Constitution does not deny "the right of persons lawfully assembled in any public building to participate in voluntary prayer."

It is "almost unbelievable," said the Rev. Robert G. Howes, a Roman Catholic priest, who was among witnesses appearing before the subcommittee the other day, "that Congress has failed to permit the nation to decide this matter through the constitutional process of amendment ratification."

What is really hard to believe is that so many people have failed to appreciate the fact that there is nothing in the Constitution, nor the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Constitution, which prohibits anyone from praying anywhere at any time.

What the Supreme Court has ruled is that the Constitution does not permit state- ordained prayer. That this would be the inevitable consequence of any right- to - prayer amendment, no matter how worded, is indicated by the statement of another witness before the subcommittee.

While affirming that her organization does not support "state - imposed or state-composed prayer," Mrs. Bennett G. Miller, co-ordinator of the National Back to God Movement, stated that "we do demand the right freely to recognize a Supreme Being at an appropriate time, place and occasion in the public classroom.

"When, how, what, where and the words must be left to the good sense of state and local option."

"When, how, what, and the words" — what is this but the substance of an officially sanctioned ceremony of public prayer?

The fact that children whose parents did not wish them to participate in prayer would have the right to remain silent or to leave the class room does not make it any the less involuntary, nor render it any less an unwise intrusion of the state into an intensely personal matter.

STANDARDS TO LIVE BY

Anecdotes and stories about J. Edgar Hoover, the indomitable, incorruptible head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 50 years will continue to circulate as long as the United States endures. In a piece entitled "J. Edgar Hoover's Farewell," U. S. News & World Report reprints a statement Mr. Hoover wrote in response to a query from "Family Weekly" on events that had influenced his life.

Mr. Hoover recalled that some of his happiest and most instructive moments occurred in a sandlot ball park. There, he said, "I ... learned a code of conduct ... We learned to play hard and play fair ... Our sandlot was a democracy in microcosm. For the rules of hard, fair play and good sportsmanship that we absorbed there translated themselves into rules of honor for school behavior and into terms of thoroughness and legality in the profession of law enforcement. It is to me today a major personal precept ... that our investigations be pursued with as much zeal and vigor to free the innocent as to convict the guilty. That is only fair play ... How far are the truth and justice of adulthood from the fair play and sense of honor demanded on the sandlot? Closer than might be supposed." A lot of contemporary problems are created by people who have never learned the rules of the sandlot ball park.

COMPANY TO CONVERT WASTE INTO STEAM

The General Electric Company's Lynn (Mass.) River works will turn Greater Boston waste and refuse into steam energy. Expected to be in active operation in September, 1975, the system initially will consume 1,200 tons of municipal and industrial refuse daily.

A long- term contract for a minimum of steam energy yearly has been signed. This will be the first privately financed refuse- to - energy facility of its type in the country.

ENERGY CRISIS IN THE HOME

Consider the housewife who has come to depend upon her powered dish washer, garbage disposal, tape recorder, radio, television, freezer, corn popper, toaster, fry unit, waffle iron, carving knife, refrigerator, pencil sharpener, mixer, blender, trash compactor, oven, broiler, rotisserie, micro-wave oven, electric towel rack, washer, dryer, can opener.

About the only thing left that doesn't require power or fuel is the cold water that comes through the faucet under its own power, and even that requires fuel to power the pumps that raise it to the storage tank to create the pressure.

We imagine few of us usually realize how dependent we are upon power for our everyday work and needs.

INGENUITY HELPS TO SOLVE WHEAT TRANSPORTATION

Improvisation becomes essential when the right kind of railroad rolling stock is not available to do the job. This happened when United States wheat went international and the bulk of the Russian grain movement to shipping ports had to be handled along with the regular domestic harvest.

High sophisticated computer systems were utilized by some individual railroads. An unprecedented conversion of coal open hopper cars, cleaned and outfitted with covers to haul grain was initiated.

The Illinois Central Gulf Railroad experimented with a removable fiberglass top to convert open hopper cars into covered cars for grain handling. The test was made with turn-around trains between Iowa pointsand the Chicago ports. It was an unqualified success. according to railroad officials.

Allan S. Boyd, president of the railroad said that, "Its success gives an exciting glimpse of possibilities for economical equipping to handle the larger volumes of export grain that seems to be in our future."

CLOTHES MAKE THE CAREER

Postmen, policemen, bus drivers and many other people have always worn distinctive, identifying clothing on the job.

In recent years, however, the idea has mushroomed to include bank clerks, door- to-door salesmen, car dealers, hotel personnel and even funeral directors.

Major corporations such as AT&T, Amtrak and Volkswagen have embarked on extensive programs to outfit their white- collar employes who deal regularly with the public.

The concept is growing so fast that it has resulted in the formation of a Career Apparel Institute, an offshoot of the uniform industry. But "career apparel" is definitely not uniforms. It is more like the smartly tailored outfits long worn by airline stewardesses, whose glamorous image has, in fact, been one of the factors responsible for the phenomenon.

Career apparel is a unified style of business attire that combines fashion and function while projecting a desired image for a company. In addition to building company identity, other advantages are cited:

. Career apparel enhances an employe's sense of being part of a professional team and upgrades his work performance; there is less employe turnover.

. It makes a company look more efficient to the public and identifies its employes as service people to customers.

. Because it must be better made, longer lasting and more comfortable on the job, career apparel copes with extremes of fashions.

. Employes like it because it solves the problem of "what to wear?" in the morning and consider it an extra fringe benefit, especially when the company pays all or part of the cost.

The outlook for career apparel is decidely bullish. Estimates of the annual volume for the industry by the end of the decade range from $300 million to $700 million, rivaling or surpassing the traditional blue- collar work clothing market.

One thing consumers are learning fast these days is that our economy is a pretty complicated thing. You don't just slap on price controls and solve yur problems immediately.

In fact, the National Association of Credit Management writes in a newsletter, "The past two years of freezes and phases may have been worth the discomfort if they dispelled the belief that wage- price controls can do some good without any harm."

Controls are harmful even when used at the best time economically, because they appear to be helpful. The illusion of success means that controls may be used again under less favorable conditions, NACM believes.

For example, Phase I succeeded because it broke an inflationary psychology we had had for so long, and permitted basic supply - demand pressures to reassert themselves. Since the freeze was only for three months, there were few attempts at evasion, and shortages did not have time to develop.

But Phase III failed because it came when demand was outrunning supply and there were shortages in agricultural products. When it became unprofitable to bring new supplies to market, distortions multiplied. The law of supply and demand became a first come, first served economy. Also contributing to the failure of Phase III was the devaluation of the dollar, and world- wide shortages of wheat and other foodstuffs.

George Hagedorn, National Association of Manufacturers chief economist, points out that no one, in or out of government, can foresee future developments clearly at all times. "In economics, the state of the art does not permit forecasting with any precision," he says. The remedy for better methods of predicting the future should be based on an acceptance of our inability to predict.

WHAT MISTAKEN IDEAS HAVE DONE TO NEW YORK CITY

New York City has long been the left-side captial of the United States. It is the headquarters of the great communications media which have for so long, in so many different ways, been teaching our people to depend on government rather than on themselves, and to blame somebody else for all thier problems. It is the home base of the Rockefellers. Its city government has long been totally committed to the ideas of the "welfare state" and crime being the result of "social injustice" rather than the evil inclinations of men.

What has the result been?

New York City used to be the showcase of the United States. Now, because of the mistaken ideas that have ruled it, all is changed.

New York City is the welfare capital of the United States, with more than 1.15 million people drawing public assistance. It is one of the crime capitals, with more than double the national average of robberies, and 150,000 drug addicts. It is still wealthy, being fourth in per capita income among U.S. cities, and has the best record of racial equality, with only 1.2 black unemployed for every white unemployed. But its wealth is squandered and its good points made meaningless by the enormity of its welfare and crime problems.

As Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa Tribune says: "New York's problem is behavior. For years its demagogues have been teaching the lazy, the irresponsible and the vicious to blame the other guy. It is the citadel of the strained alibi." Let our citizens look at what has happened to New York City, and beware.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Solzhenitsyn Is 'Junk'

Powerful West Coast Labor Chief Praises Soviets, Arab Oil Boycott, Admits Long Red Record

WASHINGTON-- It is time to jerk a still fleshy ghost out of a macabre memory lane just as the Soviet's Section 13 secret police pulled Alexander Solzhenitsyn from his own small Moscow home and deported him. The ghost in memory lane, the shadow in the long night during which some of us were beaten physically and psychologically for fighting world Communism, is the powerful 72- year- old West Coast maritime labor leader, Harry Bridges.

This man who controls the Pacific International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) can paralyze the West Coast and Alaska, starve and virtually immobilize Hawaii and run a strike which can cost American wheat shippers hundreds of millions of dollars-- and has.

Longshoremen's president Harry Bridges is as unique in his strong, pro- Communist opinions as his strategically placed industrial- maritime complex is powerful. For example, he believes that the Solzhenitsyn saga and the author's majestic battle against a secret police as ghastly as Adolf Hitler's Gestapo is "junk" with which no one should bother.

"Why should I waste my time on people like that (Solzhenitsyn)?" Bridges told an interviewer recently. "...Why the sudden interest in a couple of people over there like that?...I'm not being fooled by that kind of junk."

Solzhenitsyn's crusade, according to Bridges, is merely an attempt to thwart the Soviet state and not a matter of decency and freedom.

This is, therefore, a portrait of Bridges today. To him the Arab oil embargo is not a boycott but a legitimate strike, and if it leaves the West in general and the U. S. in particular "pretty powerless...(that) is as it should be."

And he derides as "cold war mentality" Congress's refusal to grant the U.S.S.R. special trade concessions because of Moscow's refusal to permit Jews and other dissidents to emigrate. Adds Bridges, "I'm a champion of the Soviet Union and always have been."

But that's not what he always said. For generations he has denied following the Soviet line (even through the Nazi- Soviet pact era). For years he has assaulted those who charged him with fronting for the Sino- Soviet bloc (now slightly splintered). For decades this powerful labor leader maligned those who, therefore, thought of him as a menace.

For years he and his other powerful colleagues in the ILWU's hierarchy mocked and demeaned those who charged they'd always put the Communist interest first. For years he attacked the government as a force seeking to destroy his rights, as a mendacious monster seeking to deport him to his native Australia on charges of illegal Commmunist activity. This was attempted by the Labor Department in 1938, then by the House of Representatives in 1940, then by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1941, then by the Attorney General in 1942.

Finally in 1945 the Supreme Court ruled against deportation. The decision hung on a technicality. Of course, Bridges was championed by Justice William O. Douglas who said, in effect, how could anyone impugn the patriotism of this man Bridges and accuse him of unpatriotic Communist beliefs? And those who charged that Bridges actually was interested in controlling all American transportation were cut to ribbons in opinion's market place by cocktail reception intellectuals.

Now comes Harry Bridges and states that his accusers were right. He was virtually everything they charged him with.

"All the evidence they (the government) introduced was 95 per cent true," Bridges admitted Jan. 29. "Always what they said was true."

"I was guilty as all hell. It was the 5 per cent- that little 5 per cent that they hung up on-- and that is: was I ever a member of the Communist party....But the truth of the matter is that all the evidence introduced against me in that fight with the government was 95 per cent true. The technical point of being a member wasn't there."

Of course, the government couldn't prove Bridges was a party member. Who could? It's not important. What is vital is the record of Bridge's many secret caucuses with others tied into an apparatus inside the old CIO-- and with many who tried to prevent America from aiding the Allies against the Nazi blitz.

Or has Harry Bridges forgotten that old Communist American Peace Mobilization Committee which picketed the White House in protest against shipping arms to the democracies during the Nazi-Soviet mutual assistance pact? And those signs which read, "The Yanks Are Not Coming, Let God Save the King." This during the Nazi Luftwaffe blitz over London.

Now Harry Bridges has built a labor empire so strong that from his San Francisco headquarters he can call a strike long enough to cripple a large section of the country. Now, some three decades later, Harry Bridges gleefully, with the arrogance which always has been his label, admits he was "guilty as hell."

And even in these hours of Solzhenitsyn's pain and passion, and even in these days when the Soviet's armament industry has made it the Communist merchant of death, Harry Bridges's confessions go unnoticed, and his power undiminished.

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Traveling with children is a lesson in logistics.

Anyone who has vacationed with three small boys knows full well the problems Hannibal faced in crossing the Alps.

If the vacation was more than a week, he also understands the problems of supply that doomed Napoleon's Russian mission.

In theory, it is possible for each person to have his own suitcase, self-contained, which he carries himself into the motel. Each person then is responsible for his own swim suit, pajamas, and sneakers.

That is theory.

An alternative theory of packing, used when there is a travel en route to a fixed destination, is to put into a single suitcase all the things needed for an overnight stay; once there you can unpack and sprawl, but en route, efficiency is the rule.

The problem is that nobody ever made a suitcase big enough to hold the equipment for three young children, even grubby ones whose parents really don't care what they look like, and two adults, who care even less about what they look like in the motel dining room where all the tables have candles and there is a band and dancing.

Another alternative theory, useful for a lot of one-night stands, is to take only two changes of clothing for everybody and wash a lot. This theory is advanced by campers, laundromat owners and bleach salesmen.

Like all theories, it has its fallacies. The most basic is the belief that five people, even five very common people, can exist on two outfits.

Two pairs of jeans and two Tshirts are fine, mostly, but if we stop by Woonsocket we'll want to call the Briarlys and they'll probably ask us out to dinner and we don't want to all go out there in dirty old jeans and so we better put in just one good outfit. And, when we get to Richmond, the boys will want to go fishing so we better have some really old clothes — third generation, twice removed, as opposed to their daily garb of second generation. And we will need a warm outfit in case it's cold in the hills.

Thus the packing crisis escalates.

The vacation vehicle offers some prospects of relief; you simply move from permanent house to vacation house on wheels, complete with closets. Assuming your backyard oil well copes with the cost, this is a solution of sorts.

The problem, of course, is that no vacation home yet quite equates to a two-story colonial with five walk-in closets. And clothing expands, even at home, to exceed the available space.

Still, the vacation vehicle may be the answer. If we can just tow a trailer with a steamer trunk for each kid. Mom and Dad may be able to share one trunk. For the first trip at least.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

The Year U. S. Lost Europe

LONDON-- The Year of Europe, which Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had promised for 1973, lies in shambles. It is more likely to go down in history as the year the United States lost its European allies.

For the Atlantic Alliance appears to be breaking apart. Its cornerstone, the historic British- American partnership, is crumbling.

European leaders are absolutely apalled at the scandals which have been swirling around President Nixon. He has been so weakened by Watergate that he has lost his influence with his Atlantic partners.

Privately, they hope he won't come to Europe in April to celebrate NATO's 25th anniversary. They are not at all eager to be pictured wining and dining the scandal- scarred Nixon. One prominent British diplomat quietly encouraged me to publish a hint that the President stay home.

Kissinger still has creditility with European leaders who, indeed, regard him as a diplomatic miracle worker. But they feel he has neglected Europe. In private conversations, British Prime Minister Edward Heath has gone so far as to say that Kissinger, who was born in Europe, doesn't understand its politics.

Europe's formal diplomatic set also dislike Kissinger's freewheeling style. They complain that he doesn't consult them, that he treats them more like subordinates than partners.

British leaders, who for the sake of diplomatic niceties asked not to be named, told us that the special London-Washington relationship is breaking down. They attribute this to the inability of Kissinger and Heath to get on the save wavelength.

Kissinger also has trouble penetrating the frosty reserve of British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas- Home.

At the ambassadorial level, communication has been limited largely to routine messages. Kissinger always made his diplomatic overtures over the head of the recently departed British Ambassador Lord Cromer. A Foreign Office source described the Kissinger-Cromer relationship as "decidedly chilly."

But far more damaging to the British- American partnership has been the behavior of U. S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg, who has made himself the laughing stock of London by curtseying instead of bowing to the queen and by using painfully pretentious phrases in her presence. "He is a fool," summarized one British diplomat, "a disagreeable fool."

One casualty of the widening British- American rift may be the nuclear- sharing agreement. The suspicion is growing in London that Kissinger may be willing to end the nuclear collaboration as a bargaining point to solidify the Soviet- American detente.

This has led to quite soundings about a possible British- French nuclear sharing program. Not without concern, Western Europe is awakening to the possibility that it may have to form its own independent nuclear force.

British sources also confirmed published reports that Kissinger angrily cancelled a plan to fly SR- 71 spy planes out of a base in England during the Middle East fighting. The stories claimed that Kissinger was angered by Heath's demand that British knowledge of the operation by kept strictly secret.

According to our British sources, Heath merely insisted that the Israelis should not be shown the reconnaissance photos taken by the spy planes. In any event, Kissinger ordered the spy planes to bypass Britain which resulted in costly midair refueling operations and delayed for three days some of the intelligence on Soviet deliveries to Egypt and Syria.

An underlying cause of the Kissinger- Heath split has been the prime minister's emphasis on European unity at the expense of Atlantic unity. Having brought Britain into the Common Market, he has laid less stress upon the American partnership and more upon the European partnership.

The oil crisis increased the strain on the Atlantic alliance, of course, as the British and French scrambled to make their own separate deals with the Arab oil producers.

Kissinger has scracely concealed his annoyance with the Atlantic allies, particularly the British. Increasingly, they are now showing their annoyance with him.

FOOTNOTE: The Foreign Office denied that relations with the United States have deteriorated. Similar denials have been issued by the State Department.

Red Cross fund drive set

NEW MADRID— The annual fund drive by the New Madrid County chapter of the American Red Cross will open March 1, according to R. T. Bartlett of New Madrid, chairman of the chapter, who said a $5,000 goal had been set.

Mrs. Howard Crisler of New Madrid, chairman of the fund drive, said the chapter had failed to reach its goal for funds in previous years, and because of the demands on the chapter, reserve funds are low.

Parma, Mrs. Raymond Wyman; Portageville, Mrs. William Stout and Mrs. Virginia Swilley, assisted by Floyce Maxwell Jr.; Lilbourn, Mrs. Donnie Westmoreland; Marston, Mrs. Ann Cook and Mrs. Shirley Savat; Canalou, Mrs. Nelson Lumsden; Conran, Mrs. Sheila Pikey; Catron, Harry Gremore.

East Prairie Star Route, Walter Bailey; Highway 61, from Noxall north, Tom Moore; Highway 61, from New Madrid to Noxall, Mrs. Kenneth LeSieur; La Forge, Mrs. Ray Fowler; Matthews, Mrs. Marguerite Proffer; Howardville, Mrs. Marie Branche; and Risco, Mrs. Kenneth Bird.

Adult classes set at Vo-Tech center

HOWARDVILLE— Nine adult night classes are scheduled to begin Thursday at 6 p.m. at the New Madrid County R- 1 Vocational-Technical Skills Center, if 10 eligible adult students enroll who need skills for employment or who need to upgrade their skills.

Sam L. Bodine, director of the center, said classes planned are in business, welding, air conditioning, auto mechanics, farm mechanics and building trades.

Description of the specific courses, for which there is an enrollment fee, follows:

Business data processing— The R.P.G. II language or the language of business computers, as used on IBM System III, 54 hours of instruction. The first class will meet Thursday, and further classes will meet on Tuesdays, March 5, 12 and 26 and April 9, 16 and 23. Classes will end May 23.

Intermediate typing— 27 hours of instruction for students familiar with key board, but who have a need to improve skills. Classes will meet each Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m., beginning Feb. 21.

Business machines— 27 hours of instruction and practice on machines found in the modern business operation. Classes will meet on Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m. starting Thursday and ending May 2.

Intermediate accounting— 36 hours of instruction in accounting for those who are acquainted with rudimentary accounting procedures. Classes will meet on Thursday and continue through May 16.

Welding— 27 hours of instruction in M.I.G. and T.I.G. techniques in welding, which includes nine three-hour sessions. The class is planned to meet on Tuesdays but may be arranged for students' convenience. The first session is Thursday.

Combination arc and Oxy/Acy welding— 27 hours. Classes are scheduled on Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m.

Air conditioning and refrigeration— 50 hours of instruction in advanced refrigeration. Class to meet on Thursday nights, Feb. 21 to May 23, except classes will be held on one Saturday in March, April and May at class convenience.

Auto mechanics— intermediate diagnosis, trouble shooting and alignment to include 27 hours of instruction. Classes will meet on Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m., beginning Feb. 21 and continuing through May 2.

Farm mechanics— 27 hours of instruction on diesel injection, pump calibration and overhaul. Sessions to be arranged following first meeting Thursday. Also, 27 hours of instruction on diesel tune- up, maintenance and trouble shooting. First class will meet Thursday and classes will be scheduled to meet at the students' convenience.

Building trades— beginning maintenance carpentry, 27 hours of instruction in the elements of carpentry to include woods, sawing, fitting, sizing, nailing and processes included in general maintenance work. Class enrollment Thursday and further classes will be scheduled then.

Interior finishing— 27 hours of instruction concerned with interior finishing which includes dry wall preparation, painting and paper hanging. Class enrollment Thursday and further classes will be scheduled then.

Relax tongue and eyelids to help escape insomnia

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure you are aware that a great many poeple suffer from insomnia, the tortured state of not being able to sleep. Are you willing to help them?

The tongue is one of the strongest muscles in the body. It is also one of the most tense. Think about your own tongue at this very moment. You can relax it, can't you? Also, your eyes can actually be staring, even thought covered with closed eyelids. The eyeballs are often tense, even when the eyes are shut.

When you want to rest, or sleep, practice relaxing your tongue and your eyes. Keep your tongue away from the roof of your mouth, or your teeth. Concentrate on relaxing your eyes. It might take diligent practice, but eventually you will be able to do it and sleep will come. Try it Ann. -- Sweet Slumber

Dear Sweet: I did and I darned near feel asleep at the typewriter. It works! It works! Thank you!

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the letter from the woman who was shocked when she told a New-Englander she came from Iowa and the lady replied, "We pronounce it Idaho back East."

A great many people who are employed by the postal, telephone and telegraph industries are just as ignorant. I go to the Post Office with a letter addressed to Port Louis, Mauritius and get asked, "What country is Mauritius in?" A person who works in the Post Office should know that Mauritius IS a country.

Recently, I sent a letter to Pago Pago, American Samoa. The letter came back for additional postage. The idiot in the Post Office didn't know we own American Samoa and it requires no extra postage.

It's the same with telephone operators. I place a call to Hamilton, Bermuda, and the Operator says, "We don't have a state called Bermuda. You must mean Bermuda, Florida." Another operator says, "I can't locate a Prince Edwards Island in British Columbia." When I told her I wasn't surprised, since it happens to be a Canadian province, she replied, "Oh, really?" A New Orleans telegraph employe asked a friend of mine "What part of Africa is Manitoba in?"

Dear James: The only known cure for ignorance is education. We need a lot more of it, and the quality could use some upgrading.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 23, single, not bad looking, miserable -- and considering suicide.

I work in a large office and you'd think someone would notice me, but I haven't had a date in over a year. Most of my friends are getting married. Every time I hear of a new engagement, I get depressed.

I don't know what to do or where to turn. Every morning it gets harder to drag myself out of bed and face the day.

I've never discussed this with anyone. The people I work with would be shocked if they knew what was inside me. I laugh a lot and they think I'm happy-go- lucky. I know I'm sick in the head, but I can't afford a private shrink. Help me. --Suicidal In Indy

Dear Indy: Millions of people can't afford a "private shrink" but they can look in the phone book and call the County or State Mental Health Society. And don't foreget Recovery, Inc. There IS help available if you'll seek it out.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Miss Klugh Cowan named family leader

Klugh Cowan

ESSEX — Klugh Cowan has been named Richland High School's 1973-74 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Miss Cowan won the honor by competing with other seniors in the written knowledge and appitude examination on Dec. 4. She is now eligible for state and national honors and will received a specially designed award from General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the annual educational scholarship program.

State Family Leaders of Tomorrow receive a $1,500 college scholarship while state second- place winners receive a grant of $500. The state winner also earns for his or her school a 20- volume reference work, "The Annals of America'', from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corp.

In the spring, state winners and their faculty advisors will be the guests of General Mills on an expense-paid educational tour which will include Washington, D. C. and Meanneapolis, MN. A special event of the tour is the announcement of the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow, whose scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth place winners will receive scholarship increases to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

Mrs. Turnbull is heart chairman

Chairman of the 1974 Heart Fund Drive in Sikeston will be Mrs. Robert Turnbull it was announced today by Mrs. W. L. Shuford of Chaffee, Scott County Heart Fund chairman.

Mrs. Turnbull has worked in Heart Association drives for a number of years. She and her husband live at 106 Autumn Drive with their four sons.

Funds raised in the drive are used to support research, education and community service activities of the Missouri Heart Association, the only voluntary health agency devoted exclusively to combating diseases of the heart and circulation, which afflict 27 million persons and are responsible for more than half of all deaths in this country.

Of 354 deaths in Scott County last year, 203 or 57 per cent were from heart diseases, statistics which underscore the need for public support of the Heart Fund drive.

FRIDAY

Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual should restore him in a spirit of gentleness. Look to yourself, lest you too be tempted. Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. — Galatians 6:1,2.

Light cream is sometimes called for in recipes. In some parts of the country light cream is called coffee cream or table cream. Whatever the name, this cream contains from 30 to 36 per cent milk fat. Half and half — a mixture of half milk and half cream — contains from 10 to 12 per cent milk fat.

'ULTIMA II'

THE C.H.R. FACE MAKEUP SYSTEM
It consists of two easy steps, yet the result is extraordinary.
Step 1—Priming Base. Provides a unique fine-textured surface. The moisture-rich formula gives excellent coverage, yet feels unusually light.
Step 2—Vervy Color. Specially blended to work with its own Priming Base. Creates a color that brings your whole face to life with a radiant new look.
The result is beautiful in any light.

LEAKS DOUBLE WATER BILLS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A pinhole leak in a water line, or a badly leaking faucet can cause your water bill to double every bill, according to Rockwell International Corp., largest water meter producer in the U.S. A pinhole leak can mean a loss of 18,000 gallons of water per quarter, equalling normal demand from the average home.

Where water bills are combined with sewage bills, this could mean quadrupling of the bill each quarter.

Labor survey planned

MALDEN— A six- county labor survey to determine available employes for prospective industry will be conducted in the Bootheel within the next 60 days, according to Philip Shelton, executive director of the Bootheel Economic Development Council. Shelton discussed the proposed labor survey at a meeting of the council Thursday night.

Stating that the recent industrial location activities of the council and the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission had resulted in a large number of inquiries from interested industries, Shelton said BEDC and BRPC needed current figures on available labor in the six- county area.

Shelton said his office received from 10 to 15 inquiries from interested industries prior to the energy crisis, and is still received two or three inquiries monthly. He said one of the first requests is for information from a recent area- wide labor survey.

He estimated the cost of such a survey would be about $5,000.

Shelton said information will be secured from existing state agencies, such as the Missouri Division of Employment Security, utilities, rural electric cooperatives and by use of direct mail. Newspapers will also be asked to publish forms to be completed by persons available for industrial labor. He said the services of a direct mail company at Cape Girardeau will be utilized, and all figures will then be placed on computer- type cards, utilizing a service available from a private computer operation firm at Poplar Bluff.

Shelton said the only other large labor survey was conducted several years ago for a prospective industry at New Madrid. The one contemplated by the BEDC- BRPC office would encompass the entire six- county area of Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Stoddard, Scott and Mississippi counties.

Gallup says public approval up two points

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Public approval of President Nixon's performance in office rose two points to 28 per cent in early February, according to the latest Gallup poll.

The percentage of those disapproving of the President's conduct of his office decreased five points to 59 per cent, the lowest disapproval figure in more than two months.

The remaining 13 per cent of the 1,591 adults surveyed in the Feb. 1-4 poll offered no opinion when asked: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Richard M. Nixon is handling his job as President?"

The latest survey of the President's performance was conducted two weeks after one in which 26 per cent approved of Nixon's handling of his job. In that late-January poll, 64 per cent disapproved and 10 per cent gave no opinion.

A breakdown of the survey results showed that Nixon's greatest support remained with the same groups that previously have favored him. He received majority backing only from those classifying themselves as Republican — 59 per cent. Only 16 per cent of the Democrats and 28 per cent of independents surveyed approved of his performance.

By regions, the President had the strongest support in the South.

Eagleton to chair hearing on SeMo warning system

WASHINGTON— Missouri Democratic Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton will chair a Senate hearing Wednesday on the adequacy of the U. S. Weather Bureau storm warning system.

Appearing before the appropriation subcommittee will be Dr. John Townsend, associate administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and Dr. George P. Cressman, a director of the National Weather Service.

The purpose of the hearing is to determine the adequacy of the national weather warning and disemination system.

An aide to Sen. Eagleton said testimony will also be given by Cressman on what went wrong during the tornado that struck the Clarkton, Mo., area and claimed the lives of two rural residents.

"I have been deeply concerned about the tragedy that occurred in the Bootheel," Eagleton said, "and by the thought that some lives might have been spared had every means of broadcasting the warning been utilized."

Radar gets 4 for speeding

CHARLESTON — Radar traps brought four persons into City Court on speeding charges over the weekend.

Fines of $15 each were paid by Shirley Ivie of Charleston, John McGill of Anniston and James E. Warren of Charleston.

Bonnie Ellen Story of Wolf Island paid an $11 fine on the same charge.

Charges of allowing a dog to run loose brought $8 fines each to Oliver French Sr. of Charleston, Shelby Holmes of Anniston and James K. Reeves of Charleston.

Thomas Isbell of Sikeston was fined $17 on a careless and imprudent driving charge. Fines of $2 each were paid by Luther Jackson of East Prairie and Ed Babb of Charleston for improper parking.

C. W. Mixon of Charleston forfeited a $25 bond posted on a public intoxication charge.

Dexter native named hospital administrator

DEXTER-- L. J. Daniel, a native of Dexter, has been named administrator of Dexter Memorial Hospital as a successor to Jack Norman, who is resigning to accept a similar position in Orlanda, Fla., March 1.

Daniel, who presently holds the title of regional sales manager at Pharmseal, a subsidiary of The American Hospital in Pleasanton, Calif., will arrive in Dexter Feb. 25 for a one week stay, but will not assume his permanent duties until sometime in March.

He attended Dexter High School and is a graduate of Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau.

In making the announcement at the hospital's annual board of directors meeting Thursday night, John William Ringer, board president assured members that Daniel will "make a capable, reliant administrator," especially since he has the advantage of "knowing the area well and being familiar with the district."

Ringer expressed regret in the resignation of Norman, who he said has been "a most capable administ will be greatly hospital administra the community as wel

East Prairie, NMHS among favorites

Are you ready?

Well, if your not, you sure should be! Because the hour of decision is facing each and every Southeast Missouri high school basketball team in Class A, AA and AAA this week as regional tournament action gets underway and the process of elimination for next week's state tournament's begin.

As I look over the huge field of tournament's, I often wonder what team will emerge as the cinderella team of the Bootheel, as the district so often has during this time of the season. Will it be ... East Prairie, Puxico, Delta, Caruthersville, Bloomfield or Bernie? Who will it be?

I hope to give you my thoughts on the matter and give you some pre-game guesses as this big week of basketball unfolds in the Bootheel.

So, if you're ready now ... Here's the way I see tonight's action ...

CLASS AA

At Richland

Kelly vs. Chaffee --- The district's top rate Hawks have their work cut out for them in this event. Maybe not in this particular game, but before the week's out KHS will have been tested fully. Sickness has filtered among the team and this could play a key role in coach Nick Lanpher's hopes of repeating as the champ. They'll find little opposition in tonight's game ... Kelly 87, Chaffee 62.

East Prairie vs. Richland -- Now this should be one of the district's better first round battles. Both clubs have been up and down all season and will be putting out their best this week .... The Rebels definitely have the advantage, playing at home, but I believe the EPHS Eagles will be hard to deal with in this battle and this week ... EPHS 72, Richland 61.

At Senath

South Pemiscot vs. New Madrid -- Little has been heard from the Steel based Bulldogs this season ... while the NMHS Indians have dealth some big blows to some of the district's top clubs ... Coach Carroll Compton's Tribe could be the sleeper in this event, but will have to win big in this battle to gain its momentum ... New Madrid 69, South Pemiscot 55.

Lilbourn vs. Portageville --- Has coach Larry Warren's LHS Panthers already reached their peak? That's a big question that many Southeast Missouri coaches have been asking since the late season fall of the mighty LHS cagers ... If they don't win big, and I mean real big in this contest, I doubt that they'll have the drive to repat the champs. We'll have to keep our eye on this situation ... LHS 88, Portageville 60.

North Pemiscot vs. Campbell --- Everyone says that if you slow coach David McMahon's NPHS Mustangs down, you can beat them, but if you run and gun with them ... you had better be careful ... The Camels might pull the biggest early surprise here ... Coach Vivan Reed always has a surprise. I see a close, low scoring contest ... North Pem 57, Campbell 56.

Now that looks' like all we can offer you for today ... You know we like to keep you in suspense!!! Besides having you purchase another paper tomorrow to see what kind of guesses we have made.

Bill "Mr. Basketball" Harrison did a real fine job for you readers through the regular season ... although he did miss a few ... He's learning and should take heed to this column.

Mr. Basketball will be at Richland all week to provide on the spot coverage of that big event while Stuart "Playboy" McGhee will divide his time between Bloomfield and Clarkton. Kaye Parsons will man the phone for the results of the other area events while the "old pro" will hop around the district to each event.

We'll have it all here for you each day this week and will provide on the spot coverage of the state event next week as well ... For scores of tonight's games and each evening this week, call telenews ... 471-6666.

South Shelby girls champs

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — South Shelby, with a 30-0 record, has won the Missouri girls high school basketball championship.

South Shelby grabbed the title Saturday night by beating Wheeling, 42-40, on Nancy Rutter's closing basket near the game's end.

The score was tied 30-30 with five minutes, 42 seconds remaining. South Shelby sank six straight points only to have Mary Timmons make five consecutive points that evened the score.

Miss Rutter made 17 points and Miss Timmons also scored 17 for Wheeling.

Dogs lose 3rd straight

VAN BUREN--- The Van Buren Bulldogs lost their third straight game Friday night, by seven points being defeated by the Clearwater Tigers 71- 64.

Clearwater led throughout the ball game but a fourth quarter rally netted 21 points for the Bulldogs as they held the Tigers to eight.

Fouls were the main event of the night as the referees called 63 fouls in the JV game and 56 fouls in the Varsity game.

Rancel Clark was the big gun for the Bulldogs with 19 points for the night. Teammates Smith and Barks combined for 28 points scoring 18 and 10 points respectively.

Clearwater was two for two in the events as they won the JV game 78- 47

TRACK AND FIELD

SAN DIEGO— Tony Waldrop shattered the world indoor record for the mile with a time of 3:55.0, bettering the old mark of 3.56.4 held by Tom O'Hara and Jim Ruun, at the San Diego Indoor Games. For the women, Francie Larrieu became the first female to break the 10 minute indoor-barrier with a time of 9:39.4 for the two- mile run and also cracked the world mark in the 3,000- meters in 9:02.4 and Patty Johnson of La Jella, Calif. tied her own world record in the 60- yard hurdles, stopping the clock at 7.4 seconds.

Oregon teams flatten UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA Coach John Wooden says he still thinks his 18-3 Bruins can win the NCAA basketball championship if they play their turnovers, but some of his players have asked the coach to alter the team's offense.

"In my opinion it was the turnovers that were directly responsible for our defeats this weekend," Wooden said by telephone Sunday after his team had lost to Oregon Saturday and Oregon State Friday.

"We had an inordinate number ... Many times turnovers are the result of defense, but in this case many were just poor judgement on our part.

Some Bruin players, however, felt the team was hurt in Oregon by refinements Wooden introduced last week to get more movement into the offense. These innovations dealth mainly with player movement away from the ball, Wooden said.

Wooden denied the innovations hurt and said he thought he'd stick with them.

Wooden also remarked that he wouldn't panic because his team had not been humiliated and could have won all three games that it lost this year.

"There are always several teams that can win the NCAA championships, but I think we're one of them. We are in a little bit of a slump, but I'm confident that we'll come back."

He said he still expected the toughest competition for the Pac-8 title and the NCAA playoff berth from 13th-ranked Southern Cal. The Trojans are 18-3 and tied with the Bruins for the Pac 3 lead at 7-2.

"We beat them by a comfortable margin earlier but that was on our home floor but we know they'll be tougher over there," he said. The Bruins and Trojans meet once more in conference play in March.

While the Bruins were losing their games and their image, the rest of the Top Ten ran true to form.

Second- ranked North Carolina State, boasting "Now we should be Number One," drubbed Wake Forest 111-96 and third- ranked Notre Dame, another hot contender for No. 1 status, stopped No. 14 South Carolina 72-68.

Elsewhere, No. 4 North Carolina beat Florida State 104-85; No. 5 Vanderbilt turned back Georgia 83-78; No. 6 Maryland nipped Clemson 56-54; No. 7 Pittsburgh tripped Youngstown State 91-71; No. 8 Alabama smashed Mississippi 77-57; No. 9 Marquette beat Loyola of Chicago 69-43 and No. 10 Long Beach State routed Los Angeles State 95-68.

In the Second Ten, 11th-ranked Providence defeated St. Francis, N. Y., 101-65; 12th- rated Indiana trimmed No. 15 Michigan 93-81; 13th-ranked Southern California beat Oregon State 60-53; No. 16 Kansas routed Iowa State 72-57; 19th- ranked Utah tripped Brigham Young 89-74 and No. 20 Arizona was upset by New Mexico 99-72.

Creighton, No. 17, and 18th- ranked Louisville were idle over the weekend.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Full calendars face legislators

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Last week was a busy one for Missouri's lawmakers, but they have a day off today in observance of the George Washington birthday holiday.

When they get back Tuesday at noon, the legislators have full calendars of bills to be worked on.

On the Senate calendar is a bill authorizing the sale of $13 million in water bonds. A House bill would authorize cities and counties to borrow money for industrial land purchases.

Another House bill would allow the state's Housing Development Commission to make grants for medical, nursing and educational facilities and to double the $100,000 limit on bonds the commission can have outstanding.

Coming up for debate in the Senate will be bills to license environmental sanitatians, increase the salaries of the Kansas City Election Commissioners and make Missouri Southern College at Joplin and Missouri Western at St. Joseph four-year institutions.

The schools are operated as junior colleges for the lower two grades and as senior colleges for the junior and senior grades.

Rep. William A. Peterson, D-Marshall, announced today he will not run for re-election to a third two-year term in the House. He is a lawyer and farmer.

In action last week, the House approved a death penalty bill, gave first round approval to a bill to revise the school monies distribution formula and killed, 80-73, a bill allowing all public employes except policemen and firemen, to form labor unions.

The Senate approved a measure to repeal the personal property tax on household goods and in acting as a committee of the whole, approved a bill revising the close records provision of the open meetings law.

The revised bill will allow policemen to have access to the records that are closed when a person is not convicted. However, the bill still would appear to keep newspapers from reporting that the case was dismissed because some judges have closed the records except for convictions.

A section closing the record 30 days after an arrest still is in the bill. The bill was amended to bar an employer from requiring a job applicant from producing his arrest record.

Sen. Paul Bradshaw, R-Springfield, successfully amended the bill to bar any governmental agency from authorizing closed meetings or records by regulation unless it is specificially authorized by law to do so.

Bradshaw has asked for an attorney general's opinion on whether the agriculture department can keep milk prices secret.

Still at issue in the household goods tax repealer is how to replace the $14 million that local governments are going to lose. Both houses have passed bills saying the state will make up the difference.

One plan is to tighten up the collection of property taxes on automobiles.

The collective bargaining bill would have prohibited strikes by teachers and other public employes, but it would require a mandatory "service fee," if a majority of the employes in a work unit voted in favor of the fee.

A move was expected to be made to reconsider the vote that killed the bill.

The House also passed a bill modifying the state's holder- in-due-course law. It would allow up to 90 days for buyers of faulty goods or services to get a replacement, repair or other recourse from the seller. During the 90 days the consumer would not have to make payments.

Under the present law, persons who negotiate time contracts must pay banks or finance companies who buy contracts from the original seller, regardless of whether the original seller meets the terms of the contract or whether the product is defective. An exception to this is new car warranties or similar guarnatees.

The Senate voted to extend the life of the Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority over objections of Sen. Earl Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, who complained that $100,000 of the authority's $500,000 state appropriation was given to a Washington law firm. The firm is trying to prevent the federal government from building a new St. Louis area airport in Illinois.

Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Brentwood, pointed out that Missouri has 12 congressmen paid to represent the interests of Missouri.

A bill expanding police search and seizure powers was approved by the Senate. The bill would allow policemen to obtain search warrants to look for weapons suspected to be used in crimes. They also could get warrants to look for persons suspected of being kidnaped.

Two other consumer measures, a ban on pyramid sales schemes and a ban on sales taxes on time payment finance charges, also have been passed by the House.

Revenue Department officials say they believe the law requires collection of sales taxes on interest charges but have not cracked down on enforcement.

Some stores have started such collections.

Two controversial measures still in committee after hearings were held up are bills to strengthen the state's drunk driving laws and set up state price controls on fuel.

Oil lobbyists say the pricing bill, which would provide penalties of $500 to $10,000 for persons who sell fuel at more than $15 per cent over a prevailing price set by the state public service commission, is unconstitutional.

A similar bill died in the special session that ended Feb. 1.

Rep. Harold Lowenstein, R-Kansas City, said chances of passing his drunk driving bill appeared "very slim." The bill, wanted by Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, would allow automatic revocation of a driver's license for one year after an arrest on drunken driving charges. Now, a court conviction is required. In addition, the driver's vehicle could be seized if he is arrested for driving while his license has been revoked.

"What temper'ture did President Nixon say we should set it at for meatloaf?"

Today in U.S. history

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Feb. 18, the 49th day of 1974. There are 316 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date:

In 1546, Martin Luther died.

In 1564, Michelangelo died.

In 1685, the French explorer, LaSalle, established the first settlement in Texas.

In 1915, in World War I, Germany began a submarine blockade of Britain.

In 1945, the Pacific War battle of Iwo Jima was beginning.

In 1965, the African nation of Gambia became an independent nation within the British Commonwealth.

Ten years ago: Earthquakes rocked th Azores in the Eastern Atlantic, and ships battled high waves to evacuate people from Sao Jorge island.

Driver loses control; auto strikes pole

John Lawrence Cray, 324 Selma St., was arrested Sunday afternoon for careless and imprudent driving after he lost control of his car and struck a telephone pole in the 1600 block of East Kathleen Avenue.

Police said Cray's car left the road and struck a mailbox, ran through a yard, back across the road, ran over another mail box, ripped up a bush, barely missed a house and struck a pole.

Cray was uninjured.

Other arrests announced today include: Clifford Nesby of Kansas City, peace disturbance, public intoxication and possession of a concealed weapon; Clarance David Scarbrough, 116 W. Kathleen, driving while intoxicated; Richard E. Hobbs, 205 Dixie, St., disorderly conduct; Paulette Virginia Brown of Wyatt Route One, petit larceny.

William H. Crumpecker of Morehouse, speeding, William Eugene Graham, of Benton Route One, displaying a dangerous weapon; Faddie Bonner, 108 Luther St., assault and battery; Carolyn Jean Hannah, 415 Kendall, threatening with a dangerous weapon; and William Earl Hannah, 411 Lee, assault and battery.

Child health conference set

PORTAGEVILLE— A child health conference, sponsored by the New Madrid County Health Department, will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Feb. 26 at the Baptist Church Annex on Delisle Avenue.

This is a continuing service for preschool age children who would not otherwise receive such care. All children are given a physical examination, needed immunizations and permanent records are maintained. Disease prevention and health education are stressed.

When physical abnormalities are found, the child is referred to his family physician for needed treatment. There are three other well baby clinics sponsored by the New Madrid County Health Department. They are at Risco on the first Thursday of each month Morehouse on the second Thursday of each month and Lilbourn on the third Thursday of each month.

The health department also has two immunization clinics each month. These are held at the health center on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Parents of eligible children may contact the New Madrid County Health Department for further information.

The New Madrid County Health Department also sponsors two family planning clinics each month. These are held at the health center, 650 Main, on the second and fourth Wednesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Interested persons may contact the health center for further information.

Independent truckers hope for merger soon

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Two independent truckers' organizations have charged courses that point to a battle for membership and dues.

The Owner-Operators and Independent Drivers Association of America, a nonprofit Missouri outfit, met in marathon session here beginning Saturday, ending early Sunday. J.W. "River Rat" Edwards, president of the association since it was formed in the heat of demands for a rollback in fuel prices, was either ousted or resigned.

Al Hannah, a Las Vegas truck driver who reported Sunday night he was elected president, says Edwards was eased out for a number of reasons— but the least of which were demands for his ouster by four other truckers' groups interested in merging with the Owner-Operators.

Jerry Todd, president of the Independent Drivers Coalition, based at South Roxana, Ill., said from his home at Bethalto, Ill., Sunday night that Edwards had resigned and "is going to become one of the spokesmen" for the group Todd heads.

Todd said Edwards opted out after failing to convince his colleagues to join with the Independent Truckers Coalition.

Edwards felt the group he headed was "too weak," said Todd.

Hannah declined to name the four groups he said are interested in merging with the Owner-Operators, which he said has 4,000 members.

Hannah said negotiations leading to the merger should be completed in the next 30 days.

His estimate of membership strength differs considerably from a report by Edwards' wife, Elizabeth, who was charged with maintaining the association's records. She said Saturday night that as of Feb. 10, the association had 617 dues-paying members.

Todd claims his organization represents more than 12,000 independent drivers in "about 18 midwestern and southern states."

"I feel we're one of the larger (truckers' organizations) and within 30 days we'll be twice or three times as large," he said.

In addition to the demands by other interested organizations, Hannah said, Edwards had drawn complaints from many truckers because he "went off on his own way too much" and he differed with other leaders over proposed by-laws.

Todd said Edwards "wasn't getting the participation from the people within his organization. His talents were being wasted."

The Independent Truckers Coalition will utilize Edwards primarily for organizing membership, Todd said.

He added his group and others "have the same objectives. We want to unite all the splinter organizations into one so we'll have a small group to lobby with, with the state governments and the federal government."

Two weeks ago, he estimated, there were 50 truckers' groups and "now there are about 150."

When a recipe calls for "thin strips of onion," peel the onion and quarter it; slice each quarter lengthwise into thin strips.

Burlison outlines new health law

FREDERICKTOWN-- Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison outlined the recently enacted Health Maintenance Organization Act of 1973 Friday and expressed the view that the law would provide incentive for development of health maintenance organizations in Southeast Missouri.

Burlison spoke to an audience of health planners, Group Health Association officials and other health administrators.

"The real heart of this new program," Burlison said, "is a system of financial assistance for feasibility and planning studies, initial development assistance, and initial operating assistance to qualified health organizers.

"Such assistance," the Cape Girardeau Democrat continued, "is designed to improve measurably the nation's health delivery system."

"In addition," Burlison remarked, "this program provides much needed assistance to rural areas and other areas of the country that presently have inadequate health care facilities and programs. Some 20 per cent of the authorized $375 million for this program will go to rural areas over the next five years."

A health maintenance organization is a legal entity that provides a prescribed range of health services to individuals who have enrolled in such an organization in return for a pre- paid fixed payment.

Also present were representatives from Perry, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Iron and Madison counties.

decades, at least," the National Cancer Institute is trying a new approach.

It will seek to reduce the risks connected with smoking by developing a less hazardous cigarette that will mimic the pleasure- giving properties of present- day cigarettes.

What with the rising taxes levied on cigarettes, smoking has become a more costly habit. Residents of Scott County spent some $1,677,000 in that direction last year, or about $76.80 per smoker, it is estimated.

5 hurt in area accidents

Three Sikeston youths were among five persons injured in three area traffic accidents over the weekend, according to the highway patrol.

Charles David Sparks, 16, of Sikeston received minor injuries at 11:30 p.m. Saturday when the brakes on his pickup truck failed at a T intersection one and a half miles south of Miner on Route AA, and the truck ran into a ditch.

Also receiving minor injuries were passengers David Paullus, 15, and Doyne Lee Elliott, 16. All three were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

A Perryville man was seriously injured when he lost control of a pickup truck which ran off the road on a curve and struck a dirt embankment at 1:40 p.m. Sunday on Route N five miles west of Perryville.

The highway patrol said Roger Dale Tucker, 23, was taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

Clois L. McKay, 37, of Dardanelle, Ark., was seriously injured at 10:30 p.m. Sunday when his car ran through a T intersection and overturned on Route D near Cottonwood Point in Pemiscot County.

He was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

$2,100 taken at auto firm

PORTAGEVILLE-- Paine Auto Parts on Highway 61 North was burglarized sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning of an estimated $1,300 in merchandise and $800 from a safe, which was opened by working the combination on the lock, according to the New Madrid County sheriff's department.

Among merchandise items reported stolen were tires, hydraulic jacks, assorted tools, grinders and auto parts. The building was entered by breaking out a back window.

An investigation is continuing by the city police, highway patrol and sheriff's department.

$1.6 million up in Smoke

How much effect has the campaign against cigarette smoking, begun just 10 years ago by the Surgeon General, had on residents of Scott County?

Are they smoking more or less than they did in January, 1964, when he issued the warning that cigarette smoking was a hazard to health and to life?

The findings are that many people heeded the warning and quit permanently. Others cut down on their consumption but found it too difficult to give it up completely.

The downward shift has been offset, however, by the growing use of cigarettes by teen-agers, especially young girls.

The net result is that, despite all efforts on the part of the Public Health Service, the National Cancer Institute and others to get people to give up cigarettes, there are now some 52 million smokers in the United States, which is 2 million more than in 1964, when the campaign began.

The facts and figures come from national statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture and from area reports released by the tobacco industry and others.

In Scott County, a breakdown shows, approximately 4,412,000 packs of cigarettes were sold in the past year.

Related to the local population over 18, this was equivalent to 202 packs per capita.

Throughout the United States as a whole, by way of comparison, the average was 206 packs. It was 171 packs in the West North Central States.

With the feeling that most of the smokers who could be turned away from cigarettes have already been turned and that the smoking habit "will continue for the next several

Berry services Saturday

Funeral services for Edward H. Berry, 65, of 805 Sikes Ave., a former alderman, community chest president and senior partner in the firm of Berry, Patmore & Co., certified public accountants, were conducted at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church.

Burial was in Garden of Memories Cemetery with Welsh Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

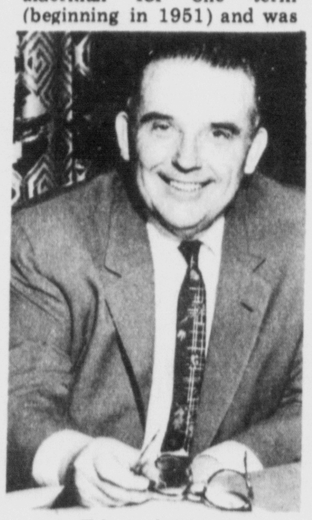
Honorary pallbearers were Tom Baker, W. L. Lair, E. E. Jolley, David Barton, Tom Allen, Charles Boyce, Leo Fisher, E. N. Fuchs, Kenneth Smitten and E. M. Radcliffe.

A resident for 32 years, Berry served the city as an alderman for one term (beginning in 1951) and was president of the community chest the year it was initiated.



Edward Berry

In 1937, he was admitted to practice law by the Tennessee Bar and was a member of the America Bar Association. In 1953, he was admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Tax Court.

He served as an honorary colonel on the staff of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and served on the Missouri State Board of Accountancy under three governors. He was past president of the Southeast Missouri Chapter of Certified Public Accountants Association.

He also was a Mason and Shriner and an active member of Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church, where he had been a ruling elder for several years.

Fire destroys home of Masterson family

The fire was discovered shortly before 11 p.m. by Scott County Deputy Sheriff Bud Jones who said flames were already breaking through the roof of the house when he spotted the fire.

The house burned out of control after both the Sikeston and Miner fire trucks ran out of water. No water lines are located near the home, which stood about one mile east of Interstate 55. The Miner fire department tried unsuccessfully to suction water from a drainage ditch located a short distance from the house.

The family was visiting relatives when the fire broke out. The three- bedroom frame house was said to be about two years old. The Mastersons had moved into the house about six months ago.

Most of the family possessions were lost, although a few items were salvaged.

The Sikeston fire department was called to a grass fire at 3:28 p.m. Sunday at 840 Tanner St., when children playing with matches set fire to grass. The fire was quickly extinguished with no damge, firemen said.

Kissinger hosts Arab ministers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign ministers of Egypt and Saudi Arabia met today with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in an effort to get talks started on disengagement of Israeli and Syrian troops in the Golan Heights.

"Nice to see you, Henry," said Omar Sakkaf, the Saudi minister, as he and Ismail Fahmy of Egypt were ushered into Kissinger's office at the State Department shortly before noon.

Kissinger, reflecting the good mood that he has maintained publicly in his Middle East diplomacy, said to Fahmy "you look in great shape."

They planned to talk for about an hour and a half before having lunch with Vice President Gerald R. Ford, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and others.

The foreign ministers met individually with Kissinger Sunday on prospects of a disengagement of Israeli and Syrian forces.

Kissinger also conferred Sunday with Sabah Kabani, the top Syrian diplomat here, and talked by telephone with Simchra Dinitz, Israel's ambassador to Washington.

Sakkaf and Fahmy were sent to Washington after a conference of the heads of state of Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Algieria in Algiers on Feb. 14.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, Egypt's Anwar Sadat, Syria's Hafez Assad, and Houari Boumedienne of Algeria reportedly have agreed that the Syrian-Israel stalemate cannot continue. Kissinger reportedly is being asked to start a mission similar to the one he carried out between Israel and Egypt, which led to the disengagement on the Suez Canal front.

Kissinger has said he is willing to commute between Jerusalem and Damascus, provided both sides show they are ready to make concessions.

The Israeli position is that at the minimum the Syrians must produce a list of Israeli prisoners of war before Israel would even talk about a disengagement. Kissinger met Sunday morning with Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz and discussed the general Mideast situation, a State Department spokesman said.

The Syrians want a commitment by Israel that all territory occupied in the 1967 and October wars will be evacuated before they provide the list of the prisoners. Also Sunday, Kissinger met with Syria's topranking envoy to Washington, Sabah Kabani.

Sikeston youth charged with first degree murder

Robert Lee Williams, 19, of 111 Thompson St. has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the Saturday night shooting death of Jessie James Perkins, also known as Jessie Cauldwell, 29, of 117 Petty St.

Williams was being held today in the Sikeston city jail under $5,000 bond. He is scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday morning in Magistrate Court.

Perkins was shot once in the chest shortly before 11 p.m. while on the front porch of the Charlie Williams home, where young Williams, a relative, lived. The shooting reportedly followed an argument over a woman, according to police.

Police said Williams walked into the police station at 11:02 p.m. and told officer Ed Speakman that he had just shot a man and wanted to turn himself over to police.

Williams thenreached into his pants pocket and pulled out a .22 - caliber revolver and laid it on the counter, police said.

When officers arrived at the Williams home, they found Perkins dead on the front porch, lying face down. Police said the bullet entered the chest and lodged near the heart

The shooting death was the second in the city this year.

George Holland, 43, of 1409 Henry St., was shot to death Jan. 27 in the kitchen of his home. His wife, Vivian Holland, faces a first degree murder charge in connection with his death. The Holland slaying was the first in the city in nearly three years.

Perkins had been placed on two- year probation in Magistrate Court last Tuesday, after pleading guilty to the burglary of the L. B. Spears home on Feb. 2. Perkins was unemployed. Williams is employed by Paul's Sanitation Service.

Perkins was born Sept. 27, 1944 in Greensboro, Ala., and was the son of Mrs. Jessie Keith and Joe Wilson Perkins of Chicago.

His body was removed today from Smith Funeral Home and taken to Branch Funeral Home in Chicago.

PSC hearing on truckers surcharge starts Tuesday

JEFFERSON CITY — A hearing will be held Tuesday by the Missouri Public Service Commission to determine whether a surcharge of six per cent should be granted to truck operators in Missouri to conpensate for higher fuel costs.

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. in the Public Service Commission hearing room on the 10th floor of the Jefferson Building.

Any persons who wish to give evidence in regard to the six per cent surcharge or other matters related to it should appear at the hearing, the commission said.

An important factor to be considered, the commission said, is the type of conditions that should be imposed, if the surcharge is approved, to ensure that those wo who actually buy fuel benefit from the full effect of the surcharge.

A similar six per cent surcharge for interstate transporation was approved last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It did not apply to intrastate carriers -- those that operate wholly within a state -- and the PSC said it has learned that some Missouri intrastate hauls are being neglected by carriers because no surcharge has yet been allowed on intrastate shipments in Missou[illegible].

The Commission said there is an urgent need for immediate relief from higher fuel costs in order that the carriers may recover the increased cost as soon as possible.

2 cars are stolen

A 1964 bronze Cadillac was reported stolen about 8 p.m. Sunday from the Ramada Inn parking lot, police announced today. The car is owned by Nancy Alcorn Healey of Sikeston.

It was the second car theft reported to police during the weekend.

The first theft was reported late Friday afternoon from the used car lot of Goza- Harper Motor Co. 225 E. Malone Ave.

The car, a repossession, was stolen sometime in the last 30 days. It was described as a blue 1969 Pontiac Firebird.

Few possessions removed

Friends and neighbors help move a few possessions saved from a fire which destroyed the John Masterson house on Route Two late Friday night. The house was destroyed after the fire trucks ran out of water. The family was away from the home when the fire broke out. (Daily Standard photo by Ron Porter)

WHY DO
YOU VOTE?

Here and there around the country there are signs that the candidates in the next election are going to be running scared. Scared because revelations of corruption in state and Federal government are causing more than usual concern among the voters.

Avowed candidates are publicly announcing that they won't accept large contributions. Some say they won't take any cash.

It looks to us that if this backlash is strong enough we may have one of the most honest elections held in this or any other country for a long time.

It could well be that instead of handpicked candidates by political machines, a number of candidates may enter the field who have something to give this country of great value. It may be that we will make a real turn away from huge campaign funds that are used by the venal to buy and sell public offices.

We'd say right now that there is a chance that a real turn for the better could occur but we are realists enough not to think this will be a complete victory.

Politics is still not a science nor an art but a face- to - face confrontation of millions of people on election day. Unfortunately, many never pay any attention to that day. Most of these don't even vote. Many who do vote do so as a whim. Others haven't one real reason for casting their ballot except that it's the thing to do. Some never even heard of the candidates they vote for.

But we thank Our Heavenly Father who created this country that there are many citizens who do know who they are voting for and why they are voting.

It is our opinion that this election day there will be a lot more voters who know what they are doing when they go to the polls. We also think there will be a lot more voters who will vote their convictions for an honest government.

May we respectfully suggest that you begin to consider right now how you are going to vote.

"So- called masculine and feminine behavior," she claims, "are products of socialization and not expressions of innate sexual differences."

PRAYERS IN SCHOOL ARE STILL OUT OF PLACE

The perennial subject of school prayer is up before Congress again.

The Senate's Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee has been holding hearings on an amendment proposed by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., which would specify that the Constitution does not deny "the right of persons lawfully assembled in any public building to participate in voluntary prayer."

It is "almost unbelievable," said the Rev. Robert G. Howes, a Roman Catholic priest, who was among witnesses appearing before the subcommittee the other day, "that Congress has failed to permit the nation to decide this matter through the constitutional process of amendment ratification."

What is really hard to believe is that so many people have failed to appreciate the fact that there is nothing in the Constitution, nor the Supreme Court's interpretation of the Constitution, which prohibits anyone from praying anywhere at any time.

What the Supreme Court has ruled is that the Constitution does not permit state- ordained prayer. That this would be the inevitable consequence of any right- to - prayer amendment, no matter how worded, is indicated by the statement of another witness before the subcommittee.

While affirming that her organization does not support "state - imposed or state-composed prayer," Mrs. Bennett G. Miller, co-ordinator of the National Back to God Movement, stated that "we do demand the right freely to recognize a Supreme Being at an appropriate time, place and occasion in the public classroom.

"When, how, what, and the words" — what is this but the substance of an officially sanctioned ceremony of public prayer?

The fact that children whose parents did not wish them to participate in prayer would have the right to remain silent or to leave the class room does not make it any the less involuntary, nor render it any less an unwise intrusion of the state into an intensely personal matter.

STANDARDS TO LIVE BY

Anecdotes and stories about J. Edgar Hoover, the indomitable, incorruptible head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation for 50 years will continue to circulate as long as the United States endures. In a piece entitled "J. Edgar Hoover's Farewell," U. S. News & World Report reprints a statement Mr. Hoover wrote in response to a query from "Family Weekly" on events that had influenced his life.

Mr. Hoover recalled that some of his happiest and most instructive moments occurred in a sandlot ball park. There, he said, "I ... learned a code of conduct ... We learned to play hard and play fair ... Our sandlot was a democracy in microcosm. For the rules of hard, fair play and good sportsmanship that we absorbed there translated themselves into rules of honor for school behavior and into terms of thoroughness and legality in the profession of law enforcement. It is to me today a major personal precept ... that our investigations be pursued with as much zeal and vigor to free the innocent as to convict the guilty. That is only fair play ... How far are the truth and justice of adulthood from the fair play and sense of honor demanded on the sandlot? Closer than might be supposed." A lot of contemporary problems are created by people who have never learned the rules of the sandlot ball park.

COMPANY TO CONVERT WASTE INTO STEAM

The General Electric Company's Lynn (Mass.) River works will turn Greater Boston waste and refuse into steam energy. Expected to be in active operation in September, 1975, the system initially will consume 1,200 tons of municipal and industrial refuse daily.

A long- term contract for a minimum of steam energy yearly has been signed. This will be the first privately financed refuse- to - energy facility of its type in the country.

ENERGY CRISIS IN THE HOME

Consider the housewife who has come to depend upon her powered dish washer, garbage disposal, tape recorder, radio, television, freezer, corn popper, toaster, fry unit, waffle iron, carving knife, refrigerator, pencil sharpener, mixer, blender, trash compactor, oven, broiler, rotisserie, micro-wave oven, electric towel rack, washer, dryer, can opener.

About the only thing left that doesn't require power or fuel is the cold water that comes through the faucet under its own power, and even that requires fuel to power the pumps that raise it to the storage tank to create the pressure.

We imagine few of us usually realize how dependent we are upon power for our everyday work and needs.

INGENUITY HELPS TO SOLVE WHEAT TRANSPORTATION

Improvisation becomes essential when the right kind of railroad rolling stock is not available to do the job. This happened when United States wheat went international and the bulk of the Russian grain movement to shipping ports had to be handled along with the regular domestic harvest.

High sophisticated computer systems were utilized by some individual railroads. An unprecedented conversion of coal open hopper cars, cleaned and outfitted with covers to haul grain was initiated.

The Illinois Central Gulf Railroad experimented with a removable fiberglass top to convert open hopper cars into covered cars for grain handling. The test was made with turn-around trains between Iowa pointsand the Chicago ports. It was an unqualified success. according to railroad officials.

Allan S. Boyd, president of the railroad said that, "Its success gives an exciting glimpse of possibilities for economical equipping to handle the larger volumes of export grain that seems to be in our future."

CLOTHES MAKE THE CAREER

Postmen, policemen, bus drivers and many other people have always worn distinctive, identifying clothing on the job.

In recent years, however, the idea has mushroomed to include bank clerks, door- to-door salesmen, car dealers, hotel personnel and even funeral directors.

Major corporations such as AT&T, Amtrak and Volkswagen have embarked on extensive programs to outfit their white- collar employes who deal regularly with the public.

The concept is growing so fast that it has resulted in the formation of a Career Apparel Institute, an offshoot of the uniform industry. But "career apparel" is definitely not uniforms. It is more like the smartly tailored outfits long worn by airline stewardesses, whose glamorous image has, in fact, been one of the factors responsible for the phenomenon.

Career apparel is a unified style of business attire that combines fashion and function while projecting a desired image for a company. In addition to building company identity, other advantages are cited:

. Career apparel enhances an employe's sense of being part of a professional team and upgrades his work performance; there is less employe turnover.

. It makes a company look more efficient to the public and identifies its employes as service people to customers.

. Because it must be better made, longer lasting and more comfortable on the job, career apparel copes with extremes of fashions.

. Employes like it because it solves the problem of "what to wear?" in the morning and consider it an extra fringe benefit, especially when the company pays all or part of the cost.

The outlook for career apparel is decidely bullish. Estimates of the annual volume for the industry by the end of the decade range from $300 million to $700 million, rivaling or surpassing the traditional blue- collar work clothing market.

One thing consumers are learning fast these days is that our economy is a pretty complicated thing. You don't just slap on price controls and solve yur problems immediately.

In fact, the National Association of Credit Management writes in a newsletter, "The past two years of freezes and phases may have been worth the discomfort if they dispelled the belief that wage- price controls can do some good without any harm."

Controls are harmful even when used at the best time economically, because they appear to be helpful. The illusion of success means that controls may be used again under less favorable conditions, NACM believes.

For example, Phase I succeeded because it broke an inflationary psychology we had had for so long, and permitted basic supply - demand pressures to reassert themselves. Since the freeze was only for three months, there were few attempts at evasion, and shortages did not have time to develop.

But Phase III failed because it came when demand was outrunning supply and there were shortages in agricultural products. When it became unprofitable to bring new supplies to market, distortions multiplied. The law of supply and demand became a first come, first served economy. Also contributing to the failure of Phase III was the devaluation of the dollar, and world- wide shortages of wheat and other foodstuffs.

George Hagedorn, National Association of Manufacturers chief economist, points out that no one, in or out of government, can foresee future developments clearly at all times. "In economics, the state of the art does not permit forecasting with any precision," he says. The remedy for better methods of predicting the future should be based on an acceptance of our inability to predict.

WHAT MISTAKEN IDEAS HAVE DONE TO NEW YORK CITY

New York City has long been the left-side captial of the United States. It is the headquarters of the great communications media which have for so long, in so many different ways, been teaching our people to depend on government rather than on themselves, and to blame somebody else for all thier problems. It is the home base of the Rockefellers. Its city government has long been totally committed to the ideas of the "welfare state" and crime being the result of "social injustice" rather than the evil inclinations of men.

What has the result been?

New York City used to be the showcase of the United States. Now, because of the mistaken ideas that have ruled it, all is changed.

New York City is the welfare capital of the United States, with more than 1.15 million people drawing public assistance. It is one of the crime capitals, with more than double the national average of robberies, and 150,000 drug addicts. It is still wealthy, being fourth in per capita income among U.S. cities, and has the best record of racial equality, with only 1.2 black unemployed for every white unemployed. But its wealth is squandered and its good points made meaningless by the enormity of its welfare and crime problems.

As Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa Tribune says: "New York's problem is behavior. For years its demagogues have been teaching the lazy, the irresponsible and the vicious to blame the other guy. It is the citadel of the strained alibi." Let our citizens look at what has happened to New York City, and beware.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Solzhenitsyn Is 'Junk'

Powerful West Coast Labor Chief Praises Soviets, Arab Oil Boycott, Admits Long Red Record

WASHINGTON-- It is time to jerk a still fleshy ghost out of a macabre memory lane just as the Soviet's Section 13 secret police pulled Alexander Solzhenitsyn from his own small Moscow home and deported him. The ghost in memory lane, the shadow in the long night during which some of us were beaten physically and psychologically for fighting world Communism, is the powerful 72- year- old West Coast maritime labor leader, Harry Bridges.

This man who controls the Pacific International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) can paralyze the West Coast and Alaska, starve and virtually immobilize Hawaii and run a strike which can cost American wheat shippers hundreds of millions of dollars-- and has.

Longshoremen's president Harry Bridges is as unique in his strong, pro- Communist opinions as his strategically placed industrial- maritime complex is powerful. For example, he believes that the Solzhenitsyn saga and the author's majestic battle against a secret police as ghastly as Adolf Hitler's Gestapo is "junk" with which no one should bother.

"Why should I waste my time on people like that (Solzhenitsyn)?" Bridges told an interviewer recently. "...Why the sudden interest in a couple of people over there like that?...I'm not being fooled by that kind of junk."

Solzhenitsyn's crusade, according to Bridges, is merely an attempt to thwart the Soviet state and not a matter of decency and freedom.

This is, therefore, a portrait of Bridges today. To him the Arab oil embargo is not a boycott but a legitimate strike, and if it leaves the West in general and the U. S. in particular "pretty powerless...(that) is as it should be."

And he derides as "cold war mentality" Congress's refusal to grant the U.S.S.R. special trade concessions because of Moscow's refusal to permit Jews and other dissidents to emigrate. Adds Bridges, "I'm a champion of the Soviet Union and always have been."

But that's not what he always said. For generations he has denied following the Soviet line (even through the Nazi- Soviet pact era). For years he has assaulted those who charged him with fronting for the Sino- Soviet bloc (now slightly splintered). For decades this powerful labor leader maligned those who, therefore, thought of him as a menace.

For years he and his other powerful colleagues in the ILWU's hierarchy mocked and demeaned those who charged they'd always put the Communist interest first. For years he attacked the government as a force seeking to destroy his rights, as a mendacious monster seeking to deport him to his native Australia on charges of illegal Commmunist activity. This was attempted by the Labor Department in 1938, then by the House of Representatives in 1940, then by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover in 1941, then by the Attorney General in 1942.

Finally in 1945 the Supreme Court ruled against deportation. The decision hung on a technicality. Of course, Bridges was championed by Justice William O. Douglas who said, in effect, how could anyone impugn the patriotism of this man Bridges and accuse him of unpatriotic Communist beliefs? And those who charged that Bridges actually was interested in controlling all American transportation were cut to ribbons in opinion's market place by cocktail reception intellectuals.

Now comes Harry Bridges and states that his accusers were right. He was virtually everything they charged him with.

"All the evidence they (the government) introduced was 95 per cent true," Bridges admitted Jan. 29. "Always what they said was true."

"I was guilty as all hell. It was the 5 per cent- that little 5 per cent that they hung up on-- and that is: was I ever a member of the Communist party....But the truth of the matter is that all the evidence introduced against me in that fight with the government was 95 per cent true. The technical point of being a member wasn't there."

Of course, the government couldn't prove Bridges was a party member. Who could? It's not important. What is vital is the record of Bridge's many secret caucuses with others tied into an apparatus inside the old CIO-- and with many who tried to prevent America from aiding the Allies against the Nazi blitz.

Or has Harry Bridges forgotten that old Communist American Peace Mobilization Committee which picketed the White House in protest against shipping arms to the democracies during the Nazi-Soviet mutual assistance pact? And those signs which read, "The Yanks Are Not Coming, Let God Save the King." This during the Nazi Luftwaffe blitz over London.

Now Harry Bridges has built a labor empire so strong that from his San Francisco headquarters he can call a strike long enough to cripple a large section of the country. Now, some three decades later, Harry Bridges gleefully, with the arrogance which always has been his label, admits he was "guilty as hell."

And even in these hours of Solzhenitsyn's pain and passion, and even in these days when the Soviet's armament industry has made it the Communist merchant of death, Harry Bridges's confessions go unnoticed, and his power undiminished.

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Traveling with children is a lesson in logistics.

Anyone who has vacationed with three small boys knows full well the problems Hannibal faced in crossing the Alps.

If the vacation was more than a week, he also understands the problems of supply that doomed Napoleon's Russian mission.

In theory, it is possible for each person to have his own suitcase, self-contained, which he carries himself into the motel. Each person then is responsible for his own swim suit, pajamas, and sneakers.

That is theory.

An alternative theory of packing, used when there is a travel en route to a fixed destination, is to put into a single suitcase all the things needed for an overnight stay; once there you can unpack and sprawl, but en route, efficiency is the rule.

The problem is that nobody ever made a suitcase big enough to hold the equipment for three young children, even grubby ones whose parents really don't care what they look like, and two adults, who care even less about what they look like in the motel dining room where all the tables have candles and there is a band and dancing.

Another alternative theory, useful for a lot of one-night stands, is to take only two changes of clothing for everybody and wash a lot. This theory is advanced by campers, laundromat owners and bleach salesmen.

Like all theories, it has its fallacies. The most basic is the belief that five people, even five very common people, can exist on two outfits.

Two pairs of jeans and two Tshirts are fine, mostly, but if we stop by Woonsocket we'll want to call the Briarlys and they'll probably ask us out to dinner and we don't want to all go out there in dirty old jeans and so we better put in just one good outfit. And, when we get to Richmond, the boys will want to go fishing so we better have some really old clothes — third generation, twice removed, as opposed to their daily garb of second generation. And we will need a warm outfit in case it's cold in the hills.

Thus the packing crisis escalates.

The vacation vehicle offers some prospects of relief; you simply move from permanent house to vacation house on wheels, complete with closets. Assuming your backyard oil well copes with the cost, this is a solution of sorts.

The problem, of course, is that no vacation home yet quite equates to a two-story colonial with five walk-in closets. And clothing expands, even at home, to exceed the available space.

Still, the vacation vehicle may be the answer. If we can just tow a trailer with a steamer trunk for each kid. Mom and Dad may be able to share one trunk. For the first trip at least.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

The Year U. S. Lost Europe

LONDON-- The Year of Europe, which Secretary of State Henry Kissinger had promised for 1973, lies in shambles. It is more likely to go down in history as the year the United States lost its European allies.

For the Atlantic Alliance appears to be breaking apart. Its cornerstone, the historic British- American partnership, is crumbling.

European leaders are absolutely apalled at the scandals which have been swirling around President Nixon. He has been so weakened by Watergate that he has lost his influence with his Atlantic partners.

Privately, they hope he won't come to Europe in April to celebrate NATO's 25th anniversary. They are not at all eager to be pictured wining and dining the scandal- scarred Nixon. One prominent British diplomat quietly encouraged me to publish a hint that the President stay home.

Kissinger still has creditility with European leaders who, indeed, regard him as a diplomatic miracle worker. But they feel he has neglected Europe. In private conversations, British Prime Minister Edward Heath has gone so far as to say that Kissinger, who was born in Europe, doesn't understand its politics.

Europe's formal diplomatic set also dislike Kissinger's freewheeling style. They complain that he doesn't consult them, that he treats them more like subordinates than partners.

British leaders, who for the sake of diplomatic niceties asked not to be named, told us that the special London-Washington relationship is breaking down. They attribute this to the inability of Kissinger and Heath to get on the save wavelength.

Kissinger also has trouble penetrating the frosty reserve of British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas- Home.

At the ambassadorial level, communication has been limited largely to routine messages. Kissinger always made his diplomatic overtures over the head of the recently departed British Ambassador Lord Cromer. A Foreign Office source described the Kissinger-Cromer relationship as "decidedly chilly."

But far more damaging to the British- American partnership has been the behavior of U. S. Ambassador Walter Annenberg, who has made himself the laughing stock of London by curtseying instead of bowing to the queen and by using painfully pretentious phrases in her presence. "He is a fool," summarized one British diplomat, "a disagreeable fool."

One casualty of the widening British- American rift may be the nuclear- sharing agreement. The suspicion is growing in London that Kissinger may be willing to end the nuclear collaboration as a bargaining point to solidify the Soviet- American detente.

This has led to quite soundings about a possible British- French nuclear sharing program. Not without concern, Western Europe is awakening to the possibility that it may have to form its own independent nuclear force.

British sources also confirmed published reports that Kissinger angrily cancelled a plan to fly SR- 71 spy planes out of a base in England during the Middle East fighting. The stories claimed that Kissinger was angered by Heath's demand that British knowledge of the operation by kept strictly secret.

According to our British sources, Heath merely insisted that the Israelis should not be shown the reconnaissance photos taken by the spy planes. In any event, Kissinger ordered the spy planes to bypass Britain which resulted in costly midair refueling operations and delayed for three days some of the intelligence on Soviet deliveries to Egypt and Syria.

An underlying cause of the Kissinger- Heath split has been the prime minister's emphasis on European unity at the expense of Atlantic unity. Having brought Britain into the Common Market, he has laid less stress upon the American partnership and more upon the European partnership.

The oil crisis increased the strain on the Atlantic alliance, of course, as the British and French scrambled to make their own separate deals with the Arab oil producers.

Kissinger has scracely concealed his annoyance with the Atlantic allies, particularly the British. Increasingly, they are now showing their annoyance with him.

FOOTNOTE: The Foreign Office denied that relations with the United States have deteriorated. Similar denials have been issued by the State Department.

Red Cross fund drive set

NEW MADRID— The annual fund drive by the New Madrid County chapter of the American Red Cross will open March 1, according to R. T. Bartlett of New Madrid, chairman of the chapter, who said a $5,000 goal had been set.

Mrs. Howard Crisler of New Madrid, chairman of the fund drive, said the chapter had failed to reach its goal for funds in previous years, and because of the demands on the chapter, reserve funds are low.

Parma, Mrs. Raymond Wyman; Portageville, Mrs. William Stout and Mrs. Virginia Swilley, assisted by Floyce Maxwell Jr.; Lilbourn, Mrs. Donnie Westmoreland; Marston, Mrs. Ann Cook and Mrs. Shirley Savat; Canalou, Mrs. Nelson Lumsden; Conran, Mrs. Sheila Pikey; Catron, Harry Gremore.

East Prairie Star Route, Walter Bailey; Highway 61, from Noxall north, Tom Moore; Highway 61, from New Madrid to Noxall, Mrs. Kenneth LeSieur; La Forge, Mrs. Ray Fowler; Matthews, Mrs. Marguerite Proffer; Howardville, Mrs. Marie Branche; and Risco, Mrs. Kenneth Bird.

Adult classes set at Vo-Tech center

HOWARDVILLE— Nine adult night classes are scheduled to begin Thursday at 6 p.m. at the New Madrid County R- 1 Vocational-Technical Skills Center, if 10 eligible adult students enroll who need skills for employment or who need to upgrade their skills.

Sam L. Bodine, director of the center, said classes planned are in business, welding, air conditioning, auto mechanics, farm mechanics and building trades.

Description of the specific courses, for which there is an enrollment fee, follows:

Business data processing— The R.P.G. II language or the language of business computers, as used on IBM System III, 54 hours of instruction. The first class will meet Thursday, and further classes will meet on Tuesdays, March 5, 12 and 26 and April 9, 16 and 23. Classes will end May 23.

Intermediate typing— 27 hours of instruction for students familiar with key board, but who have a need to improve skills. Classes will meet each Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m., beginning Feb. 21.

Business machines— 27 hours of instruction and practice on machines found in the modern business operation. Classes will meet on Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m. starting Thursday and ending May 2.

Intermediate accounting— 36 hours of instruction in accounting for those who are acquainted with rudimentary accounting procedures. Classes will meet on Thursday and continue through May 16.

Welding— 27 hours of instruction in M.I.G. and T.I.G. techniques in welding, which includes nine three-hour sessions. The class is planned to meet on Tuesdays but may be arranged for students' convenience. The first session is Thursday.

Combination arc and Oxy/Acy welding— 27 hours. Classes are scheduled on Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m.

Air conditioning and refrigeration— 50 hours of instruction in advanced refrigeration. Class to meet on Thursday nights, Feb. 21 to May 23, except classes will be held on one Saturday in March, April and May at class convenience.

Auto mechanics— intermediate diagnosis, trouble shooting and alignment to include 27 hours of instruction. Classes will meet on Thursdays from 6 to 9 p.m., beginning Feb. 21 and continuing through May 2.

Farm mechanics— 27 hours of instruction on diesel injection, pump calibration and overhaul. Sessions to be arranged following first meeting Thursday. Also, 27 hours of instruction on diesel tune- up, maintenance and trouble shooting. First class will meet Thursday and classes will be scheduled to meet at the students' convenience.

Building trades— beginning maintenance carpentry, 27 hours of instruction in the elements of carpentry to include woods, sawing, fitting, sizing, nailing and processes included in general maintenance work. Class enrollment Thursday and further classes will be scheduled then.

Interior finishing— 27 hours of instruction concerned with interior finishing which includes dry wall preparation, painting and paper hanging. Class enrollment Thursday and further classes will be scheduled then.

Relax tongue and eyelids to help escape insomnia

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure you are aware that a great many poeple suffer from insomnia, the tortured state of not being able to sleep. Are you willing to help them?

The tongue is one of the strongest muscles in the body. It is also one of the most tense. Think about your own tongue at this very moment. You can relax it, can't you? Also, your eyes can actually be staring, even thought covered with closed eyelids. The eyeballs are often tense, even when the eyes are shut.

When you want to rest, or sleep, practice relaxing your tongue and your eyes. Keep your tongue away from the roof of your mouth, or your teeth. Concentrate on relaxing your eyes. It might take diligent practice, but eventually you will be able to do it and sleep will come. Try it Ann. -- Sweet Slumber

Dear Sweet: I did and I darned near feel asleep at the typewriter. It works! It works! Thank you!

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the letter from the woman who was shocked when she told a New-Englander she came from Iowa and the lady replied, "We pronounce it Idaho back East."

A great many people who are employed by the postal, telephone and telegraph industries are just as ignorant. I go to the Post Office with a letter addressed to Port Louis, Mauritius and get asked, "What country is Mauritius in?" A person who works in the Post Office should know that Mauritius IS a country.

Recently, I sent a letter to Pago Pago, American Samoa. The letter came back for additional postage. The idiot in the Post Office didn't know we own American Samoa and it requires no extra postage.

It's the same with telephone operators. I place a call to Hamilton, Bermuda, and the Operator says, "We don't have a state called Bermuda. You must mean Bermuda, Florida." Another operator says, "I can't locate a Prince Edwards Island in British Columbia." When I told her I wasn't surprised, since it happens to be a Canadian province, she replied, "Oh, really?" A New Orleans telegraph employe asked a friend of mine "What part of Africa is Manitoba in?"

What can be done about such ignorance?-- Jamestown, N.D.

Dear James: The only known cure for ignorance is education. We need a lot more of it, and the quality could use some upgrading.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 23, single, not bad looking, miserable -- and considering suicide.

I work in a large office and you'd think someone would notice me, but I haven't had a date in over a year. Most of my friends are getting married. Every time I hear of a new engagement, I get depressed.

I don't know what to do or where to turn. Every morning it gets harder to drag myself out of bed and face the day.

I've never discussed this with anyone. The people I work with would be shocked if they knew what was inside me. I laugh a lot and they think I'm happy-go- lucky. I know I'm sick in the head, but I can't afford a private shrink. Help me. --Suicidal In Indy

Dear Indy: Millions of people can't afford a "private shrink" but they can look in the phone book and call the County or State Mental Health Society. And don't foreget Recovery, Inc. There IS help available if you'll seek it out.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 3346, Chicago, Illinois 60654.

Miss Klugh Cowan named family leader

ESSEX — Klugh Cowan has been named Richland High School's 1973-74 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. Miss Cowan won the honor by competing with other seniors in the written knowledge and appitude examination on Dec. 4. She is now eligible for state and national honors and will received a specially designed award from General Mills, Inc., sponsor of the annual educational scholarship program.

State Family Leaders of Tomorrow receive a $1,500 college scholarship while state second- place winners receive a grant of $500. The state winner also earns for his or her school a 20- volume reference work, "The Annals of America'', from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corp.

In the spring, state winners and their faculty advisors will be the guests of General Mills on an expense-paid educational tour which will include Washington, D. C. and Meanneapolis, MN. A special event of the tour is the announcement of the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow, whose scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth place winners will receive scholarship increases to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

FRIDAY

Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual should restore him in a spirit of gentleness. Look to yourself, lest you too be tempted. Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. — Galatians 6:1,2.

Mrs. Turnbull is heart chairman

Chairman of the 1974 Heart Fund Drive in Sikeston will be Mrs. Robert Turnbull it was announced today by Mrs. W. L. Shuford of Chaffee, Scott County Heart Fund chairman.

Mrs. Turnbull has worked in Heart Association drives for a number of years. She and her husband live at 106 Autumn Drive with their four sons.

Funds raised in the drive are used to support research, education and community service activities of the Missouri Heart Association, the only voluntary health agency devoted exclusively to combating diseases of the heart and circulation, which afflict 27 million persons and are responsible for more than half of all deaths in this country.

Of 354 deaths in Scott County last year, 203 or 57 per cent were from heart diseases, statistics which underscore the need for public support of the Heart Fund drive.

4 marriages recorded this week

BENTON — Four marriages were recorded last week in the office of Scott County Recorder of Deeds John Bollinger.

Josh Boyd, 46, and Geraline Levy, 34, of Sikeston were married Feb. 2 in Sikeston by the Rev. C. A. Sprowls.

Larry Gene Wolfe, 19, of Cape Girardeau and Mary Frances Mangrum, 20, of Chaffee were married Feb. 2 in Allenville by the Rev. Clarence Long.

John Darrell Broome, 49, of Sikeston and Jean Estelle Hopkins, 48, of Joppa, Ill., were married Feb. 8 in Charleston by the Rev. Lindsay Farris.

Donnie Gale Ward, 17, and Sheila Ann Graham, 17, of Sikeston were married Feb. 11 in Sikeston by the Rev. Cline Ables.

The first telephone was installed in the White House by President Rutherford B. Hayes, who took office in 1877, the World Book Encyclopedia says. The installation was ordered after the President saw Alexander Graham Bell demonstrate his invention. President Hayes also ordered a telegraph installed.

LEAKS DOUBLE WATER BILLS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A pinhole leak in a water line, or a badly leaking faucet can cause your water bill to double every bill, according to Rockwell International Corp., largest water meter producer in the U.S. A pinhole leak can mean a loss of 18,000 gallons of water per quarter, equalling normal demand from the average home.

Where water bills are combined with sewage bills, this could mean quadrupling of the bill each quarter.

Labor survey planned

MALDEN— A six- county labor survey to determine available employes for prospective industry will be conducted in the Bootheel within the next 60 days, according to Philip Shelton, executive director of the Bootheel Economic Development Council. Shelton discussed the proposed labor survey at a meeting of the council Thursday night.

Stating that the recent industrial location activities of the council and the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission had resulted in a large number of inquiries from interested industries, Shelton said BEDC and BRPC needed current figures on available labor in the six- county area.

Shelton said his office received from 10 to 15 inquiries from interested industries prior to the energy crisis, and is still received two or three inquiries monthly. He said one of the first requests is for information from a recent area- wide labor survey.

He estimated the cost of such a survey would be about $5,000.

Shelton said information will be secured from existing state agencies, such as the Missouri Division of Employment Security, utilities, rural electric cooperatives and by use of direct mail. Newspapers will also be asked to publish forms to be completed by persons available for industrial labor. He said the services of a direct mail company at Cape Girardeau will be utilized, and all figures will then be placed on computer- type cards, utilizing a service available from a private computer operation firm at Poplar Bluff.

Shelton said the only other large labor survey was conducted several years ago for a prospective industry at New Madrid. The one contemplated by the BEDC- BRPC office would encompass the entire six- county area of Dunklin, Pemiscot, New Madrid, Stoddard, Scott and Mississippi counties.

Gallup says public approval up two points

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Public approval of President Nixon's performance in office rose two points to 28 per cent in early February, according to the latest Gallup poll.

The percentage of those disapproving of the President's conduct of his office decreased five points to 59 per cent, the lowest disapproval figure in more than two months.

The remaining 13 per cent of the 1,591 adults surveyed in the Feb. 1-4 poll offered no opinion when asked: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Richard M. Nixon is handling his job as President?"

The latest survey of the President's performance was conducted two weeks after one in which 26 per cent approved of Nixon's handling of his job. In that late-January poll, 64 per cent disapproved and 10 per cent gave no opinion.

A breakdown of the survey results showed that Nixon's greatest support remained with the same groups that previously have favored him. He received majority backing only from those classifying themselves as Republican — 59 per cent. Only 16 per cent of the Democrats and 28 per cent of independents surveyed approved of his performance.

By regions, the President had the strongest support in the South.

Eagleton to chair hearing on SeMo warning system

WASHINGTON— Missouri Democratic Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton will chair a Senate hearing Wednesday on the adequacy of the U. S. Weather Bureau storm warning system.

Appearing before the appropriation subcommittee will be Dr. John Townsend, associate administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and Dr. George P. Cressman, a director of the National Weather Service.

The purpose of the hearing is to determine the adequacy of the national weather warning and disemination system.

An aide to Sen. Eagleton said testimony will also be given by Cressman on what went wrong during the tornado that struck the Clarkton, Mo., area and claimed the lives of two rural residents.

"I have been deeply concerned about the tragedy that occurred in the Bootheel," Eagleton said, "and by the thought that some lives might have been spared had every means of broadcasting the warning been utilized."

Radar gets 4 for speeding

CHARLESTON — Radar traps brought four persons into City Court on speeding charges over the weekend.

Fines of $15 each were paid by Shirley Ivie of Charleston, John McGill of Anniston and James E. Warren of Charleston. Bonnie Ellen Story of Wolf Island paid an $11 fine on the same charge.

Charges of allowing a dog to run loose brought $8 fines each to Oliver French Sr. of Charleston, Shelby Holmes of Anniston and James K. Reeves of Charleston.

Thomas Isbell of Sikeston was fined $17 on a careless and imprudent driving charge. Fines of $2 each were paid by Luther Jackson of East Prairie and Ed Babb of Charleston for improper parking.

C. W. Mixon of Charleston forfeited a $25 bond posted on a public intoxication charge.

Dexter native named hospital administrator

DEXTER-- L. J. Daniel, a native of Dexter, has been named administrator of Dexter Memorial Hospital as a successor to Jack Norman, who is resigning to accept a similar position in Orlanda, Fla., March 1.

Daniel, who presently holds the title of regional sales manager at Pharmseal, a subsidiary of The American Hospital in Pleasanton, Calif., will arrive in Dexter Feb. 25 for a one week stay, but will not assume his permanent duties until sometime in March.

He attended Dexter High School and is a graduate of Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau.

In making the announcement at the hospital's annual board of directors meeting Thursday night, John William Ringer, board president assured members that Daniel will "make a capable, reliant administrator," especially since he has the advantage of "knowing the area well and being familiar with the district."

Ringer expressed regret in the resignation of Norman, who he said has been "a most capable administ... will be greatly ... hospital administra... the community as well.

East Prairie, NMHS among favorites

Are you ready?

Well, if your not, you sure should be! Because the hour of decision is facing each and every Southeast Missouri high school basketball team in Class A, AA and AAA this week as regional tournament action gets underway and the process of elimination for next week's state tournament's begin.

As I look over the huge field of tournament's, I often wonder what team will emerge as the cinderella team of the Bootheel, as the district so often has during this time of the season. Will it be ... East Prairie, Puxico, Delta, Caruthersville, Bloomfield or Bernie? Who will it be?

I hope to give you my thoughts on the matter and give you some pre-game guesses as this big week of basketball unfolds in the Bootheel.

CLASS AA

At Richland

Kelly vs. Chaffee --- The district's top rate Hawks have their work cut out for them in this event. Maybe not in this particular game, but before the week's out KHS will have been tested fully. Sickness has filtered among the team and this could play a key role in coach Nick Lanpher's hopes of repeating as the champ. They'll find little opposition in tonight's game ... Kelly 87, Chaffee 62.

East Prairie vs. Richland --- Now this should be one of the district's better first round battles. Both clubs have been up and down all season and will be putting out their best this week .... The Rebels definitely have the advantage, playing at home, but I believe the EPHS Eagles will be hard to deal with in this battle and this week ... EPHS 72, Richland 61.

At Senath

South Pemiscot vs. New Madrid --- Little has been heard from the Steel based Bulldogs this season ... while the NMHS Indians have dealth some big blows to some of the district's top clubs ... Coach Carroll Compton's Tribe could be the sleeper in this event, but will have to win big in this battle to gain its momentum ... New Madrid 69, South Pemiscot 55.

Lilbourn vs. Portageville --- Has coach Larry Warren's LHS Panthers already reached their peak? That's a big question that many Southeast Missouri coaches have been asking since the late season fall of the mighty LHS cagers ... If they don't win big, and I mean real big in this contest, I doubt that they'll have the drive to repat the champs. We'll have to keep our eye on this situation ... LHS 88, Portageville 60.

North Pemiscot vs. Campbell --- Everyone says that if you slow coach David McMahon's NPHS Mustangs down, you can beat them, but if you run and gun with them ... you had better be careful ... The Camels might pull the biggest early surprise here ... Coach Vivan Reed always has a surprise. I see a close, low scoring contest ... North Pem 57, Campbell 56.

Now that looks' like all we can offer you for today ... You know we like to keep you in suspense!!! Besides having you purchase another paper tomorrow to see what kind of guesses we have made.

Bill "Mr. Basketball" Harrison did a real fine job for you readers through the regular season ... although he did miss a few ... He's learning and should take heed to this column.

Mr. Basketball will be at Richland all week to provide on the spot coverage of that big event while Stuart "Playboy" McGhee will divide his time between Bloomfield and Clarkton. Kaye Parsons will man the phone for the results of the other area events while the "old pro" will hop around the district to each event.

We'll have it all here for you each day this week and will provide on the spot coverage of the state event next week as well ... For scores of tonight's games and each evening this week, call telenews ... 471-6666.

South Shelby girls champs

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP) — South Shelby, with a 30-0 record, has won the Missouri girls high school basketball championship.

South Shelby grabbed the title Saturday night by beating Wheeling, 42-40, on Nancy Rutter's closing basket near the game's end.

The score was tied 30-30 with five minutes, 42 seconds remaining. South Shelby sank six straight points only to have Mary Timmons make five consecutive points that evened the score.

Miss Rutter made 17 points and Miss Timmons also scored 17 for Wheeling.

Dogs lose 3rd straight

VAN BUREN--- The Van Buren Bulldogs lost their third straight game Friday night, by seven points being defeated by the Clearwater Tigers 71- 64.

Clearwater led throughout the ball game but a fourth quarter rally netted 21 points for the Bulldogs as they held the Tigers to eight.

Fouls were the main event of the night as the referees called 63 fouls in the JV game and 56 fouls in the Varsity game.

Rancel Clark was the big gun for the Bulldogs with 19 points for the night. Teammates Smith and Barks combined for 28 points scoring 18 and 10 points respectively.

Clearwater was two for two in the events as they won the JV game 78- 47

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done". But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Oregon teams flatten UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA Coach John Wooden says he still thinks his 18-3 Bruins can win the NCAA basketball championship if they play their turnovers, but some of his players have asked the coach to alter the team's offense.

"In my opinion it was the turnovers that were directly responsible for our defeats this weekend," Wooden said by telephone Sunday after his team had lost to Oregon Saturday and Oregon State Friday.

"We had an inordinate number ... Many times turnovers are the result of defense, but in this case many were just poor judgement on our part.

Some Bruin players, however, felt the team was hurt in Oregon by refinements Wooden introduced last week to get more movement into the offense. These innovations dealth mainly with player movement away from the ball, Wooden said.

Wooden denied the innovations hurt and said he thought he'd stick with them.

Wooden also remarked that he wouldn't panic because his team had not been humiliated and could have won all three games that it lost this year.

"There are always several teams that can win the NCAA championships, but I think we're one of them. We are in a little bit of a slump, but I'm confident that we'll come back."

He said he still expected the toughest competition for the Pac-8 title and the NCAA playoff berth from 13th-ranked Southern Cal. The Trojans are 18-3 and tied with the Bruins for the Pac 3 lead at 7-2.

"We beat them by a comfortable margin earlier but that was on our home floor but we know they'll be tougher over there," he said. The Bruins and Trojans meet once more in conference play in March.

While the Bruins were losing their games and their image, the rest of the Top Ten ran true to form.

Second- ranked North Carolina State, boasting "Now we should be Number One," drubbed Wake Forest 111-96 and third- ranked Notre Dame, another hot contender for No. 1 status, stopped No. 14 South Carolina 72-68.

Elsewhere, No. 4 North Carolina beat Florida State 104-85; No. 5 Vanderbilt turned back Georgia 83-78; No. 6 Maryland nipped Clemson 56-54; No. 7 Pittsburgh tripped Youngstown State 91-71; No. 8 Alabama smashed Mississippi 77-57; No. 9 Marquette beat Loyola of Chicago 69-43 and No. 10 Long Beach State routed Los Angeles State 95-68.

In the Second Ten, 11th-ranked Providence defeated St. Francis, N. Y., 101-65; 12th- rated Indiana trimmed No. 15 Michigan 93-81; 13th-ranked Southern California beat Oregon State 60-53; No. 16 Kansas routed Iowa State 72-57; 19th- ranked Utah tripped Brigham Young 89-74 and No. 20 Arizona was upset by New Mexico 99-72.

Creighton, No. 17, and 18th- ranked Louisville were idle over the weekend.

Full calendars face legislators

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Last week was a busy one for Missouri's lawmakers, but they have a day off today in observance of the George Washington birthday holiday.

When they get back Tuesday at noon, the legislators have full calendars of bills to be worked on.

On the Senate calendar is a bill authorizing the sale of $13 million in water bonds. A House bill would authorize cities and counties to borrow money for industrial land purchases.

Another House bill would allow the state's Housing Development Commission to make grants for medical, nursing and educational facilities and to double the $100,000 limit on bonds the commission can have outstanding.

Coming up for debate in the Senate will be bills to license environmental sanitatians, increase the salaries of the Kansas City Election Commissioners and make Missouri Southern College at Joplin and Missouri Western at St. Joseph four-year institutions.

The schools are operated as junior colleges for the lower two grades and as senior colleges for the junior and senior grades.

Rep. William A. Peterson, D-Marshall, announced today he will not run for re-election to a third two-year term in the House. He is a lawyer and farmer.

In action last week, the House approved a death penalty bill, gave first round approval to a bill to revise the school monies distribution formula and killed, 80-73, a bill allowing all public employes except policemen and firemen, to form labor unions.

The Senate approved a measure to repeal the personal property tax on household goods and in acting as a committee of the whole, approved a bill revising the close records provision of the open meetings law.

The revised bill will allow policemen to have access to the records that are closed when a person is not convicted. However, the bill still would appear to keep newspapers from reporting that the case was dismissed because some judges have closed the records except for convictions.

A section closing the record 30 days after an arrest still is in the bill. The bill was amended to bar an employer from requiring a job applicant from producing his arrest record.

Sen. Paul Bradshaw, R-Springfield, successfully amended the bill to bar any governmental agency from authorizing closed meetings or records by regulation unless it is specificially authorized by law to do so.

Bradshaw has asked for an attorney general's opinion on whether the agriculture department can keep milk prices secret.

Still at issue in the household goods tax repealer is how to replace the $14 million that local governments are going to lose. Both houses have passed bills saying the state will make up the difference.

One plan is to tighten up the collection of property taxes on automobiles.

The collective bargaining bill would have prohibited strikes by teachers and other public employes, but it would require a mandatory "service fee," if a majority of the employes in a work unit voted in favor of the fee.

A move was expected to be made to reconsider the vote that killed the bill.

The House also passed a bill modifying the state's holder-in-due-course law. It would allow up to 90 days for buyers of faulty goods or services to get a replacement, repair or other recourse from the seller. During the 90 days the consumer would not have to make payments.

Under the present law, persons who negotiate time contracts must pay banks or finance companies who buy contracts from the original seller, regardless of whether the original seller meets the terms of the contract or whether the product is defective. An exception to this is new car warranties or similar guarnatees.

The Senate voted to extend the life of the Missouri-St. Louis Metropolitan Airport Authority over objections of Sen. Earl Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, who complained that $100,000 of the authority's $500,000 state appropriation was given to a Washington law firm. The firm is trying to prevent the federal government from building a new St. Louis area airport in Illinois.

Sen. A. Clifford Jones, R-Brentwood, pointed out that Missouri has 12 congressmen paid to represent the interests of Missouri.

A bill expanding police search and seizure powers was approved by the Senate. The bill would allow policemen to obtain search warrants to look for weapons suspected to be used in crimes. They also could get warrants to look for persons suspected of being kidnaped.

Two other consumer measures, a ban on pyramid sales schemes and a ban on sales taxes on time payment finance charges, also have been passed by the House.

Revenue Department officials say they believe the law requires collection of sales taxes on interest charges but have not cracked down on enforcement.

Some stores have started such collections.

Two controversial measures still in committee after hearings were held up are bills to strengthen the state's drunk driving laws and set up state price controls on fuel.

Oil lobbyists say the pricing bill, which would provide penalties of $500 to $10,000 for persons who sell fuel at more than $15 per cent over a prevailing price set by the state public service commission, is unconstitutional.

A similar bill died in the special session that ended Feb. 1.

Rep. Harold Lowenstein, R-Kansas City, said chances of passing his drunk driving bill appeared "very slim." The bill, wanted by Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, would allow automatic revocation of a driver's license for one year after an arrest on drunken driving charges. Now, a court conviction is required. In addition, the driver's vehicle could be seized if he is arrested for driving while his license has been revoked.

Goodrich tire values

steel belted radials

40,000 miles of guaranteed performance. In normal driving, you'll get at least 40,000 miles of tread wear from the Lifesaver® Radial Steel R/S on your car. If you don't get 40,000 miles, take the guarantee back to your BFG retailer. He'll allow you credit for the difference toward the going trade-in price of new ones. And add a small service charge.

Driver loses control; auto strikes pole

John Lawrence Cray, 324 Selma St., was arrested Sunday afternoon for careless and imprudent driving after he lost control of his car and struck a telephone pole in the 1600 block of East Kathleen Avenue.

Police said Cray's car left the road and struck a mailbox, ran through a yard, back across the road, ran over another mail box, ripped up a bush, barely missed a house and struck a pole.

Cray was uninjured.

Other arrests announced today include: Clifford Nesby of Kansas City, peace disturbance, public intoxication and possession of a concealed weapon; Clarance David Scarbrough, 116 W. Kathleen, driving while intoxicated; Richard E. Hobbs, 205 Dixie, St., disorderly conduct; Paulette Virginia Brown of Wyatt Route One, petit larceny.

Child health conference set

PORTAGEVILLE— A child health conference, sponsored by the New Madrid County Health Department, will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Feb. 26 at the Baptist Church Annex on Delisle Avenue.

This is a continuing service for preschool age children who would not otherwise receive such care. All children are given a physical examination, needed immunizations and permanent records are maintained. Disease prevention and health education are stressed.

When physical abnormalities are found, the child is referred to his family physician for needed treatment. There are three other well baby clinics sponsored by the New Madrid County Health Department. They are at Risco on the first Thursday of each month Morehouse on the second Thursday of each month and Lilbourn on the third Thursday of each month.

The health department also has two immunization clinics each month. These are held at the health center on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Parents of eligible children may contact the New Madrid County Health Department for further information.

The New Madrid County Health Department also sponsors two family planning clinics each month. These are held at the health center, 650 Main, on the second and fourth Wednesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon. Interested persons may contact the health center for further information.

Independent truckers hope for merger soon

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Two independent truckers' organizations have charged courses that point to a battle for membership and dues.

The Owner-Operators and Independent Drivers Association of America, a nonprofit Missouri outfit, met in marathon session here beginning Saturday, ending early Sunday. J.W. "River Rat" Edwards, president of the association since it was formed in the heat of demands for a rollback in fuel prices, was either ousted or resigned.

Al Hannah, a Las Vegas truck driver who reported Sunday night he was elected president, says Edwards was eased out for a number of reasons— but the least of which were demands for his ouster by four other truckers' groups interested in merging with the Owner-Operators.

Jerry Todd, president of the Independent Drivers Coalition, based at South Roxana, Ill., said from his home at Bethalto, Ill., Sunday night that Edwards had resigned and "is going to become one of the spokesmen" for the group Todd heads.

Todd said Edwards opted out after failing to convince his colleagues to join with the Independent Truckers Coalition.

Edwards felt the group he headed was "too weak," said Todd.

Hannah declined to name the four groups he said are interested in merging with the Owner-Operators, which he said has 4,000 members.

Hannah said negotiations leading to the merger should be completed in the next 30 days.

His estimate of membership strength differs considerably from a report by Edwards' wife, Elizabeth, who was charged with maintaining the association's records. She said Saturday night that as of Feb. 10, the association had 617 dues-paying members.

Todd claims his organization represents more than 12,000 independent drivers in "about 18 midwestern and southern states."

"I feel we're one of the larger (truckers' organizations) and within 30 days we'll be twice or three times as large," he said.

In addition to the demands by other interested organizations, Hannah said, Edwards had drawn complaints from many truckers because he "went off on his own way too much" and he differed with other leaders over proposed by-laws.

Todd said Edwards "wasn't getting the participation from the people within his organization. His talents were being wasted."

The Independent Truckers Coalition will utilize Edwards primarily for organizing membership, Todd said.

He added his group and others "have the same objectives. We want to unite all the splinter organizations into one so we'll have a small group to lobby with, with the state governments and the federal government."

Two weeks ago, he estimated, there were 50 truckers' groups and "now there are about 150."

When a recipe calls for "thin strips of onion," peel the onion and quarter it; slice each quarter lengthwise into thin strips.

Burlison outlines new health law

FREDERICKTOWN-- Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison outlined the recently enacted Health Maintenance Organization Act of 1973 Friday and expressed the view that the law would provide incentive for development of health maintenance organizations in Southeast Missouri.

Burlison spoke to an audience of health planners, Group Health Association officials and other health administrators.

"The real heart of this new program," Burlison said, "is a system of financial assistance for feasibility and planning studies, initial development assistance, and initial operating assistance to qualified health organizers.

"Such assistance," the Cape Girardeau Democrat continued, "is designed to improve measurably the nation's health delivery system."

"In addition," Burlison remarked, "this program provides much needed assistance to rural areas and other areas of the country that presently have inadequate health care facilities and programs. Some 20 per cent of the authorized $375 million for this program will go to rural areas over the next five years."

A health maintenance organization is a legal entity that provides a prescribed range of health services to individuals who have enrolled in such an organization in return for a pre- paid fixed payment.

Also present were representatives from Perry, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Iron and Madison counties.

decades, at least," the National Cancer Institute is trying a new approach.

It will seek to reduce the risks connected with smoking by developing a less hazardous cigarette that will mimic the pleasure- giving properties of present- day cigarettes.

What with the rising taxes levied on cigarettes, smoking has become a more costly habit. Residents of Scott County spent some $1,677,000 in that direction last year, or about $76.80 per smoker, it is estimated.
